Threats Heard Against Wives In Ship Dispute

Seamen's Union Continues Fight Against Three Lines on Lakes

TORONTO, April 28 (CP). — Threats against women were heard today as the Great Lakes Seamen's dispute continued.

The Canadian Seamen's Union (T.L.C.), claiming its men have been locked out of work contracts, is pursuing a fight against three Great Lakes steamship lines.

The lines refuse to deal with the union on grounds it is Communist-led and against the rival Canadian Lake Seaman's Union with which the lines signed contracts.

The threats came from two men who attacked the 56-year-old wife of Capt. Andrew Allen of the Canada Steamship Lines' freighter Lethbridge.

"We'll get the bunch of you—you wives," one of the men told Mrs. Allen during the attack in her Sarnia, Ont., home. The men knocked her to the kitchen floor, beat her about the face and head, and smashed her glasses. They took $15 from her handbag.

Mrs. Allen said she interpreted the threat as meaning the men were going to "get" all the C.S.L. captains' wives and children.

"It seemed as if I was the first," said Mrs. Allen. She added that the men also told her:

HUSBAND THREATENED

"That husband of yours won't sign on any more sailors."

Meantime, two C.S.U. men sought in connection with last week's boarding and damaging of the C.S.L. vessel Glenelg surrendered to police here. They were Michael Jackson, Great Lakes C.S.U. director, and Louis Schmalts, one of the union's organizers.

Yugoslav Frontier Closed Off

LONDON, April 28 (Reuters).—The Yugoslav border with Trieste was closed at dawn today, Rome radio said tonight.

Yugoslav troop movements toward the border have been observed and Yugoslav forces have erected new observation posts along the border, the radio added.

The Yugoslav News Agency Tanyug reported that British and American occupation authorities in Trieste have extended passenger traffic restrictions imposed for the May Day celebrations to shipping. The agency said police motor boats patrol nightly between Koper and Trieste.

The shore and port of Trieste were said to be illuminated with searchlights at night; military and police units were being reinforced, road blocks set up at crossroads, and frontier inhabitants who owned property on both sides of the frontier were not allowed to cross the border.

Italian Leftists Prepare Election Fraud Charges

ROME, April 28 (AP).—Communists and Socialists will abandon their formal alliance under defeat in Italy's election, it was learned authoritatively today.

The Leftist Popular Front formed for the election will be maintained only as a "sort of co-ordinating committee," interviews with the Communist and Socialist information directors of the front disclosed.

They outlined a sweeping reorganization of leftist tactics.

1. Communists and their leftist allies will formally charge fraud in the election. Front political crews now are busy gathering information intended to support charges of "voting irregularities, intimidation and interference."

2. Pro-Communist Socialists, under the new leadership of Vice-Secretary-General Lelio Basso, will assume direction of leftist political propaganda. The Communists will retire from this activity for the time being to concentrate mainly on "reorganization of the masses."

3. Leftists, defeated in their electoral bid for power in Italy, will try to strengthen their hold on 8,000,000 organized workers and lay ground work for this Autumn's election of Italy's 18 Regional Parliaments.

4. The Communist Party itself is undergoing a reorganization of regional leadership, with many top provincial bosses being replaced by "younger, more successful men."

Palmiro Togliatti, Italy's No. 1 Communist, is expected to remain at the party's head along with Luigi Longo, partisan chief, and other members of the directive and executive councils.

Says Packers Cannot Push Prices Lower

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP). — Meat prices can be brought down only if livestock growers will accept less for their animals, R. S. Munn, general manager of Burns & Company, said today before the Commons Price Committee.

And the head of the meat-packing firm added it looked as though the Government intended that the grower should not get less.

Mr. Munn had been asked by Committee Counsel H. A. Dyde his opinion of what might be done to bring down retail prices.

Mr. Dyde observed that meat prices were still going up and there was some feeling consumers should exercise resistance to buying. He asked Mr. Munn what the packing industry could do to level off prices.

"Very little," Mr. Munn replied. He thought the industry was operating efficiently. He believed its profit if subtracted from the retail price level, would make little difference in what the consumer pays.

"Frankly," he added, "I don't know what the industry can do. The only way I know of would be for the producer to accept less."

In view of the fact that the Dominion Government has put a floor under meat prices through overseas contracts, he did not think it intended growers to accept less.

Traditional Ceremony Ends B.C. Legislative Session

The longest session in "sitting hours" since 1930 of the British Colombia Legislative Assembly officially ended yesterday, when it was prorogued by Lieutenant-Governor Charles A. Banks. Walking down the steps from the main entrance to the Legislative Buildings, used only for such ceremonies, are, left to right, the Lieutenant-Governor, Premier Byron I. Johnson, Fred Hurley, Mrs. Banks, Commander Geoffrey Borrie, Wing Commander D. D. Campbell, Commander Hew Paterson and Col. R. L. Mitchell. For details see Page 3.

Air Postage Cut Being Considered

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP).—The reduction of domestic airmail postage from seven to four cents an ounce is included in a postal scheme now before the cabinet, a postal department official said tonight.

He said the scheme was advanced to speed up delivery of ordinary mail in long distance hauls.

"There is no indication what the decision of the cabinet will be," he said. It was questionable whether the scheme, if approved, would be brought in by July 1.

Pilot Unhurt After Crash Of Jet Plane

WAGAMING, Ont., April 28 (CP).—An R.C.A.F. jet plane crash-landed today in a swamp near this Northwestern Ontario village, 125 miles north of Port Arthur.

First reports said the pilot, Wing Cmdr J. D. Somerville, escaped injury.

The Vampire jet plane was being flown from Toronto to the West Coast for the Vancouver R.C.A.F. Squadron.

Trouble developed as the plane neared Wagaming, a flag stop on the Canadian National Railways transcontinental line. The scene of the landing is about 20 miles from an emergency field at Armstrong which the pilot apparently was trying to reach.

Little Evidence Seen Of Alleged Threats

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP).—Justice Minister Ilsley indicated in the Commons today there is little evidence that Communists are threatening foreign-born Canadians with reprisals against relatives living abroad if they do not contribute to Communist funds.

However, he said he was having his department determine whether the Criminal Code could be strengthened to take care of such cases.

Mr. Ilsley was referring to cases cited by Opposition members who claimed to have knowledge of such threats.

He said he had inquired and had found that "occasionally in conversation there is some reference to relatives of the displaced person or other person of foreign origin or foreign parentage in the home country or Communist country."

"These references are not threats," he added, "they are merely reminders, I suppose, or hints rather than threats."

He warned the House not to have "too high hopes of anything of much value being done" because it was difficult to see how a reference to family could be made the subject of a criminal prosecution. Nor was it likely that anyone threatened would want to lay a charge if they had "any real fear" of retaliation upon their relatives.

Mr. Ilsley made his statement during clause-by-clause study of a bill setting up a new pension plan for the R.C.M.P.

Replying to a request by John Diefenbaker (P.C.-Lake Centre) for a statement on what the R.C.M.P. is doing to combat Communist, the Minister said he would make one later if this could be done without hindering the police work in the anti-Communist field.

Mr. Diefenbaker said a Slav anti-Communist group had told him they had planned to hold a public meeting on the subject of reprisal threats in Toronto, but when they approached other Slavs for support they found the Communists already were at work. Those approached said they feared to "show their hand" lest relatives abroad be endangered.

Toronto Man Testifies Against Police

TORONTO, April 28 (CP).—William J. Abraham testified today that Constable John Trimble struck him repeatedly and threatened to kick him after his arrest April 17, on a charge of causing a disturbance. The policeman is charged with assault occasioning bodily harm.

Abraham spoke through clenched teeth, wired to permit healing of a fractured jaw which he said he suffered at the hands of the constable.

Abraham said he and a companion, L.A.C. Jack Wilks, an airman stationed at Trenton, Ont., were arrested at a Toronto dance hall and taken to police station.

"I had had a few drinks," Abraham said, "but I was not intoxicated."

He said he protested when a policeman struck Wilks with his knee. When Constable Trimble and Abraham were left alone, the policeman had asked what his "beef" was.

"I told him I didn't know why the police had to beat up young kids on the street," he testified.

He said Trimble then struck him (Abraham) repeatedly with the back of his hand and knocked him from a chair to the floor.

"He said if I did not get up he would give me the boots," Abraham declared.

NANKING, April 29 (Thursday) (AP).—Gen. Li Tsung-Jen of Peiping, one-time political opponent of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, was elected vice-president of China today.

D.P.'s En Route

CALGARY, April 28 (CP).—A party of 80 displaced persons from Europe passed through Calgary tonight en route to Nelson, B.C., and Vancouver. They will be employed by the Canadian Pacific Railway as sectionmen.

Tests Defence In Northwest

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP).—The United States Air Force planned to begin testing its Pacific Northwest defences tonight with B-29 mock bombing attacks and fighter interceptions.

The manoeuvres, involving three commands of U.S.A.F., were scheduled to begin at midnight, the Air Force announced. They are expected to last for more than a week. The total number of planes involved was not disclosed.

The control centre for defence operations is at Arlington, Wash., about 60 miles north of Seattle. This centre directs fighter planes through radar-tracking units.

Receding Waters Take 14th Victim As Alberta Homeless Receive Relief

WINNIPEG, April 28 (CP).—Western Canada's floods, easing in Saskatchewan and Alberta but still on the rampage in Manitoba, today claimed their 14th victim when 2½-year-old Donald Smith drowned in a water-filled excavation at Regina.

His was the third Saskatchewan death attributable to floods. Three persons have drowned in Manitoba and eight in Alberta.

The child fell into the excavation head first while playing on top of the three-foot bank.

In Alberta, meanwhile, relief was becoming an actuality for thousands of families forced from their homes in the path of last week's rising flood waters. Red Cross, service, church and other agencies were joining forces with individual workers in supplying food, clothing and other comforts to the stricken families.

Hundreds of the approximately 3,000 evacuated persons in Alberta were returning to their water-logged Drumheller Valley homes today, while others were expecting an early return as rivers and creeks continued to recede.

REPAIR WASHOUTS

Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways officials reported line conditions in the province were improving as work gangs continued repairing numerous washouts, but highways were still in bad shape.

The Saskatchewan situation also continued to improve, although Oxbow in the southern part of the province was in danger from the bloated Souris River. Roche Percee, evacuated last week by all but a lone watchman in the railway station, was struggling back to normal today.

Plane Seeding Considered

WINNIPEG, April 28 (CP).—Western farmers, fearing that flooded acres will dry out too late this Spring to permit a normal growing period for crops, tonight were considering a suggestion that aerial seeding could overcome their difficulties.

The suggestion came from Jack Dawson, skipper of the Winnipeg Canoe Club, who arrived from England last November after experiencing some of the worst floods in that country's history.

Mr. Dawson said English farmers developed the technique during last Spring's serious floods there. Aircraft carrying special machines flew over farm lands, shooting the seed into the ground.

Through this method they were able to get crops under way six weeks earlier than would have been possible had farmers waited for the ground to dry.

Spring Floods Sweep Prairie Provinces

Not an uncommon sight are children at St. Jean, Man., riding to school in farm wagon, axle deep in flood waters which have been sweeping the prairies. Floods have now abated slightly.

Jewish Fighters Maintain Drive Into Arab Jaffa

Capture of Manshieh Quarter Claimed by Underground Army

JERUSALEM, April 28 (AP). — Irgun Zvai Leumi claimed capture of the Manshieh quarter of Jaffa tonight and sped troops and equipment to the front to maintain the battering thrust of its drive into the all-Arab city.

Before nightfall the Jewish underground army raised the blue and white Hebrew flag over the Manshieh quarter's Hassan Beq mosque. Manshieh sticks out like a mile-long thumb into the no man's land separating Jaffa from all-Jewish Tel Aviv.

Irgun troops and equipment convoys were seen moving out of Tel Aviv tonight into the no man's land. A high Irgun commander said the assault on Jaffa would continue despite British warnings.

Irgun was aided in its Manshieh drive today by Hagana, the regular Jewish militia, which staged strong pre-dawn attacks on at least four suburbs in an Arab defence arc east and southeast of Jaffa.

While the British authorities and Hagana announced that Royal Air Force planes machine-gunned Jewish positions at Bat Yam, near Jaffa, crowds in Tel Aviv cheered returning warriors who jauntily wore captured red tarbouches—the Arab fez—as symbols of victory in Manshieh.

Residents of the all-Jewish Tel Aviv were warned to be ready to take to first floor rooms and basements in event British forces shell the city in retaliation. There was no indication from Tel Aviv that such action had begun.

Meanwhile, King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan, ignoring British denials, told a reporter in Amman his Arab legionnaires had occupied the biblical town of Jericho, 20 miles northeast of Jerusalem, with "scout troops which always precede the regular army." An Associated Press reporter who went to Jericho was told by the legion commander the troops were there only under British orders to protect British evacuation routes from Palestine.

Delegates Agree On Truce

LAKE SUCCESS, April 28 (CP).—Representatives of Arabs and Jews at the United Nations agreed today on a truce for the Old Walled Section of Jerusalem. Final approval must come from their headquarters.

The proposed truce would apply only to the section of Jerusalem which contains many of the places holy to Christians, Moslems and Jews.

The first apparent achievement of this second special United Nations session on Palestine was tempered, however, by continued wrangling in the 58-member political committee concerning the over-all problem of Palestine.

A test vote on the United Nations' partition plan for Palestine was avoided.

Freighter Calls for Aid As Ice Traps Four Ships

HALIFAX, April 28 (CP). — Five ships were at the mercy of the Atlantic tonight while a sixth was in tow.

The sealer Norman Conrad, crushed by tons of heaving ice 25 miles southeast of Battle Harbor, Labrador, was the only total loss. Huddled on the ice near her were 28 crew members, awaiting momentary rescue by the sealer Eagle.

A blinding snowstorm over Cape Breton kept the Government ice breaker Saurel from reaching three ships trapped in the frozen wastes surrounding the island.

Meanwhile, the salvage tug Foundation Josephine was racing to the Greek freighter Petros Nomikos, in distress off Cape Ray, Newfoundland, and the United States Coast Guard cutter Acushnet was towing the badly-leaking trawler Newton to Yarmouth, N.S.

Water was entering the Newton so fast that there would not be time to bring her to her home port of Boston or to Portland, the Acushnet radioed.

None of the crews of any ship was reported in danger.

The Conrad was rafted aboard the ice yesterday. Biggest concern of the crew members, meagre reports reaching here said, was that the ice would give way letting the ship sink before they could salvage the season's catch.

It was the third sealing ship to meet such a fate this Spring as the worst ice conditions in 50 years prevailed in the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Wedged in the ice for the second time this year is the Halifax sealer Alfred and Emily off Aspy Bay, Cape Breton. The Newfoundland Government ship Random was trapped three miles off Low Point, N.S.

Also held in the ice was the 513-ton freighter Keltic, off the entrance to Sydney Harbor.

21 Labor Party M.P.'s Warned to Mend Ways

LONDON, April 28 (CP). — The Labor Party tonight brought down the axe on its troublesome Left Wing members, apparently ready to face the possibility of a new critical independent Labor group being formed in the House of Commons.

Badgered by backbench critics of foreign policy since the Labor Government took office in July, 1945, the party national executive decided:

1. To expel John Faithful Fortescue Platts-Mills, 41, Left-Wing member of the London constituency of Finsbury. A New Zealand-born barrister, Platts-Mills was a noted athlete in his youth, served with the R.A.F. in 1940 and later as a volunteer worker in the coal mines.

2. To send a final warning to the 21 other Labor members who defied the party and sent a telegram of support to the pro-Communist Pietro Nenni's Socialists in the Italian election. Platts-Mills admitted supporting the telegram. Twenty-one others have yet to deny adherence to the message. They have until May 8 to assure the party that they will mend their conduct. Otherwise, they too will be expelled.

3. To call for an explanation from Alfred Edwards, 60, a company director and Labor member for East Middlesbrough, who is regarded as of the Right Wing. He has been critical of the Government's nationalization proposals and said recently that he would ignore a resolution by his local Labor party asking him to resign.

Political circles said there was uncertainty about the number of the 21 members given a warning who are likely to stand by Platts-Mills and face exclusion from the party. Platts-Mills now can find a place with D. N. Pritt, member of Hammersmith North, who quarrelled with the Labor Party over Communism and now sits as an independent Labor representative.

One independent Labor and 36 Labor members were reported to have signed the Nenni telegram. But 15 members have denied signing it or have since retracted.

The vote for expulsion did not deprive Platts-Mills of his seat in Parliament, but it excludes him from caucuses and from party support.

Rescued After Underwater Ordeal

Edward Christiansen, of Oyster Bay, N.Y., diver, is carried to ambulance recently after being rescued from 30 feet below harbor surface off Staten Island. Chistiansen was caught under estimated 15 tons of mud while engaged in cleaning telephone cables under surface of harbor.

Deadline to File Income Tax Moved From April 30 to May 31

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP)—Revenue Minister McCann announced in the Commons today the time for filing 1948 individual income tax returns will be extended from April 30 to May 31.

Extreme weather conditions in various parts of the country were making it impossible for taxpayers to get the appropriate income tax forms. In addition, there was a substantial increase, particularly in rural areas, in the number of taxpayers over the previous year.

Mr McCann said this added greatly to the problem of distributing the forms.

The Government's order applies General, T1 Special, T4-T1 Employees, T1 Farmers and T1 Prairie Farmers.

The penalty for late filing will be assesed if the taxpayer fails to file his return until after May 31, 1948.

Records Set By Long B.C. Session

Completing business an hour earlier than had been expected, the third session of British Columbia's 21st Legislature was formally prorogued by Lieutenant-Governor Charles A Banks at 2 p.m yesterday.

In its longest session since 1930, the House received a record total of 121 bills, passed a record 112 to receive Royal assent in the closing ceremonies.

In 30 sitting days since the session opened March 2, the House met 57 times, including 12 night and five morning sittings.

The order paper was cleared at 1:17 p.m. yesterday. At 2 p.m. His Honor entered the chamber, escorted by his aides, Cmdr. Hew Paterson, Col. R. L. Mitchell, and Wing Cmdr D. D. Campbell.

In his closing speech from the Throne, after bills had been given assent, His Honor said:

"I am indeed gratified that measures have been passed to grant further financial assistance to municipalities and rural areas and to maintain our high standard of social security.

"Provision of hospital insurance, I am sure, will be most beneficial to my people, as also will be the increased benefits made possible through amendmente to the Workmen's Compensation Act.

"Further implementation of the recommendations of the Royal Commission on forestry should enable this important industry to be placed on a sounder basis and thus perpetuate the benefits to be derived from the development of this natural resource.

"The amendments to the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act are commendable, since this legislation is designed to improve our labour laws in order to bring about closer employer-employee relations.

"It is with gratification that I note my Government's intention to seek removal of the mountain differential on the railway freight rates applying to this Province.

"Continued improvements in British Columbia's social welfare, finances, education, public works, and other important services should accrue from the special provisions made and the varied legislation that has been passed."

Final Readings See Changes In I.C.A. Act

The Government was empowered by order in council to supersede its own labor regulations in the coal mining and meat packing industry which operate inter-provincially by an amendment in the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitraton Act as the measure went through final readings yesterday.

Another change provided that a conciliation officer called in to settle any labor dispute could not be required to give evidence in any court action arising out of the dispute.

The Labor Board will be required to submit an annual report to the Legislature through the Minister of Labor and any member of the board may be dismissed for cause.

Winding up a bill amending the Workmen's Compensation Act, Attorney-General Gordon Wismer included an amendment which will permit payment of a per diem allowance to injured workmen required to report for examination regardless of how long ago they were injured. At the same time the allowance is increased from $2.50 to $3.50 a day.

Rites for Senator Set for Saturday

CALGARY, April 28 (CP)—Funeral services for Senator D. E. Riley, 87, who died in Calgary last night following a brief illness, will be held from the United Church here at 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

The pioneer of Alberta cattlemen had been Liberal Senator for Alberta since 1926.

Jubilee Seeks Larger Ward For Children

Royal Jubilee Hospital is making a special appeal to subscribers to obtain $40,000 for work to enlarge the Children's Ward.

A letter from L. J. Hobbs, president of the board of directors, said it is proposed to remodel the Strathcona Building and convert it into a children's ward with 50 per cent greater capacity and improved nursing facilities.

"Frequently, children in urgent need of medical and surgical attention have to wait for admission or be accommodated in the corridors," the letter says.

Increase in the population of Greater Victoria has made heavy demands on the hospital, the subscribers are told.

Hearing Halted To Obtain New Witness

Preliminary hearing of Bernard Bowcott, charged with breaking and entering Gladwell Motors Ltd., was remanded just after it started in city police court yesterday when it was found necessary to have another Crown witness appear.

[illegible] three other breaking and enterings. He has elected a preliminary hearing on all counts. George F Gregory is his counsel.

Otto Henry Willner, service manager at the garage, testified in court yesterday, stating that he found on February 1, the day after the breaking and entering, that a door on the upper floor of the garage had been torn from its hinges. He said the door was situated in the adjoining wall between the garage and the neighboring premises.

Henry Milliken, service station attendant, was giving evidence when Mr. Harrison asked for an adjournment to obtain further information regarding witnesses.

Edward Brown, who is jointly charged with Bowcott with breaking and entering Western Auto Supply Co., Quadra Street, was remanded with Bowcott to today.

Year's Work Reviewed By Council

Activities of the past year were reviewed at a recent annual meeting of the Citizens' Co-ordinating Council to the Veterans' Hospital.

The council was thanked for the work it had done for patients by Dr C. A. Watson and Matron Miss S. J Roberts. Appreciation of patients and ex-patients was expressed in a letter from S. H Okell, Department of Veterans' Affairs, sent to Past President Robert Knight.

Other reports included mention of weekly visits by various veterans organizations, the donation of books and flowers, assistance to the canteen, and the furnishing of hospital rooms.

An auxiliary to the Veterans' Hospital has been formed under the chairmanship of Mrs W. G. Colquhoun. Membership will be open to all interested in the welfare of veterans, and a first meeting will be held at the hospital May 5 at 8 p.m.

Maj T. R Wheaden was elected president for the forthcoming year. Other officials elected were Mrs. D. McColloch, vice-president; and Mrs. D. Swan, secretary-treasurer.

Floods Give Woman 900-Mile Ride

SASKATOON, April 28 (CP)—Canadian National Railways officials today told the story of a woman who traveled 900 miles on a 55-cent railway ticket—legally. They blamed it on the floods.

The woman left North Battleford Saturday with a return ticket for her home at Delmas, ten miles away.

On Monday she still was [illegible] after having been re-routed to Saskatoon, Kindersley, Sask., Hanna, Alta., Edmonton and Lloydminster.

Driving Counts Bring Fines

Magistrate H. C. Hall levied three fines for dangerous driving in city police court yesterday.

Gordon H. Stevenson, Vancouver, was fined $40 and had his driver's licence suspended for one month when he pleaded guilty on a dangerous driving charge.

Charge arose out of an accident Tuesday night at the intersection of Bay and Douglas Streets.

Charles E. Peck was fined $40 and was prohibited from driving for three months when he pleaded guilty to driving in a manner dangerous to the public on Quadra Street, on April 23.

Ronald E Campbell, Parksville, was fined $50 and had his driver's licence suspended for one month when found guilty of dangerous driving. Charge arose out of an accident at the intersection of Runnymede Avenue, and Foul Bay Road, on April 25.

Senators Again Battle Over Bill on Margarine

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP)—The Senate waged more war on the margarine bill today and delayed a vote until at least tomorrow.

Based on a bill moved by Senator W. D. Euler (L., Ontario) that would remove the ban against the butter substitute were these developments:

[illegible] tor Wishart Robertson, Government leader, in which he charged that it was a "cruel deception" to pretend that the people would be able to get margarine for at least three years even if the ban were removed.

2. An unsuccessful, fiery attempt by Senator James Murdock (L., Ontario) to adjourn the debate so he could read Senator Robertson's "absolutely untrue" statements before answering. Senator Murdock also accused Speaker J. H King of "Communist" tactics in handling his request.

The Senate leader said removal now of the ban could bring calamity to thousands of marginal farmers who were not aware that margarine could not threaten them for at least three years. Such farmers would be at the mercy of "human vultures in the form of [illegible] who would induce panic selling of stock and equipment."

Senator Murdock asked adjournment of the debate when Senator Robertson finished. Senator King told him he would have to have a seconder for his motion.

3. Senator L. M. Gouin (L., Quebec) said that Senator Robertson's arguments had "converted" him to opposition to the bill and Senator Lacasse (L., Ontario) urged its passage to help the poor.

Midnight Oil Helps Session Wheels Grind Out 112 Pieces of Legislation

By ROY MURDOCK

In two months of hard work, with frequent burning of the midnight oil, wheels of the Provincial Legislature ground out a record total of 112 pieces of legislation before its 1948 session drew to a weary close at 3 p.m. yesterday.

It produced in that time new and [illegible] tax burdens on everybody, and widely expanding the scope of government control in many walks of life and work.

Highlighting a session often marked by dull and dreary routine were four acts of major importance, provoking long and sometimes bitter debates on the floor of the House. These were:

1. Imposition of a 3 per cent retail sales tax, to go into effect about May 18, under the name of the Social Security and Municipal Aid Tax.

2. Establishment of a compulsory contributory hospitalization plan.

3. Far-reaching amendments to the 1947 Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act—British Columbia's key labor statute—placing new curbs on both management and labor in an attempt to cut down strike time losses.

4. Amendments to the Workmen's Compensation Act to give all industrial widows a uniform $50 pension and dependent children $12.50.

YEAR OF TAXES

For the Legislature, 1948 is likely to go down in history as the year of new taxes.

In addition to the sales tax and the hospital insurance levy, the House empowered the Government to pick up the Dominion's pari-mutuel betting tax and 20 per cent amusement tax when the Federal Government drops out of that taxation field. This followed a principle established at the previous session, when the Province took over the Dominion's 8 per cent wartime gasoline tax.

It approved a 4 per cent tax on net income of mining operations, increased timber royalties, and allowed boosts in scales of fees under several existing acts.

It shattered all previous records with a $77,442,360 budget—$18,000,000 higher than expenditure estimates of the session before.

Money bills provided, in addition, for new borrowing powers totaling $12,500,000 and for appropriation [illegible] surplus.

Of the loan bills, $5,000,000 is for Pacific Great Eastern Railway construction, with $800,000 of it to be spent this year, $5,000,000 for new school construction, and $2,500,000 to set up a revolving funds for loans to forest operators to build roads and bridges.

Appropriations from revenue surplus allow $2,000,000 for school construction and $2,000,000 to set up a hospital insurance stabilization fund.

Long-awaited amendments to the Public Schools Act provide for appointment of an assessment equalization board and afford relief to rural areas as a temporary measure, pending further revision of the school tax system.

In addition to increasing timber royalties and setting up the construction loan fund of $2,500,000, amendments to the Forest Act make it possible for farmers to operate wood lots on forest management licences.

WOMEN'S VICTORY

Women of the Province won a major victory in two measures introduced by Attorney-General Gordon Wismer. The first protects a wife's interest in the family home making it impossible for the husband to sell it without her consent if she has filed a declaration at the land registry office. The second increases from $20 to $40 a week the maximum allowance under the Deserted Wives and Children's Maintenance Act, extends the grounds for maintenance and makes wider provisions to ensure care of children.

Requested by the Real Estate Agents' Association, new measures make the real estate business unhealthy for fly-by-night and unscrupulous operators.

Additional controls are provided also over Credit Unions and the Insurance Act and Societies Act relating to mutual benefit groups have been amended to tighten them following misfortunes of thousands of residents of the Province during the past few months.

No fewer than six separate acts relate to various phases of mining. These include the rewritten Coal Mines Regulation Act and Metal- [illegible] 4 per cent income tax measures, replacing the former 2 per cent ore tax, amendments to the Coal Act, and changes in the Placer Mining Act and Mineral Act covering payment of royalties.

Protests against British Columbia's "pink slip" highway safety responsibility plan brought amendments chiefly relaxing it in favor of visiting tourists.

Hutterites and Mennonites are enfranchised under amendments to the Provincial Elections Act, leaving only Japanese, Doukhobors and native Indians excluded.

Other "control" legislation includes measures providing for more rigid restrictions over creameries and dairies, from a public health point of view, requiring electrical contractors to take out certificates of competency; requiring the censor to brand, at his discretion, certain motion pictures for "adult entertainment only" and exhibitors to show that classification prominently in advertisements, giving the Government control over literature purporting to be educational on the subject of venereal disease, and tightening controls over pit-lamping for game.

CLINICAL TREATMENT

A new act sets up a system of clinical treatment of mental cases, and eases procedures for committal to Essondale when clinical treatment fails.

Shortage of nurses throughout the Province is expected to be relieved in part by an amendment to the Registered Nurses' Act lowering from 18 to 18 years the minimum age for entry into nurses' training schools.

Legislation of purely local import includes acts authorizing lease or sale of Victoria's City Hall site and setting up of a Greater Victoria water district.

Two bills brought in late in the session are designed to remove technical legal difficulties in the way of settlement of claims for power generating operations expropriated by the British Columbia Power Commission.

Other measures approved by the House included the following:

New Statutes — Blind Persons' White Cane Act, Animal Diseases Act, consolidating earlier control measures into one act, Aid to Municipalities Act, City of Penticton Incorporation Act, City of Prince George Loan Act ($1,200,000), and provision for devision and consolidation of the statutes.

Amendments to:

Vancouver Enabling Act, Trade Licences Act, Summary Convictions Act, Pre-emptors' Free Grants Act, University Endowment Land Administration Act, Medical Act, Trust Companies Act, Jubilee Hospital Act, Corporation Income Tax Act, Constitution Act, Land Act, Petroleum and Natural Gas Act, Drainage, Dyking and Development Act, Maintenance Orders (Facilities for Enforcement) Act, Jury Act, Mechanics' Lien Act, Mortgagors' and Purchasers' Relief Act, Police and Prisons Regulation Act.

Female Minimum Wage Act, Male Minimum Wage Act, Semi-monthly Payment of Wages Act, Farmers' Land Clearing Assistance Act, Soldiers' Land Act, Magistrates' Act, Adoption Act, Apprenticeship Act, Public Utilities Act, Public Libraries Act, Special Assistance in the Cost of Education Act, Hours of Work Act, Marriage Act, Taxation Act, Partnership Act, Conditional Sales Act, Teachers' Pension Act, Civil Service Superannuation Act, Municipal Superannuation Act, Lunacy Act, Mental Hospitals Act, Land Registry Act, Trustee Act, Public Works Act.

Shops Regulation and Weekly Holiday Act, Horse-Racing Regulation Act, Divorce and Matrimonial Causes Act, Electric Power Act, Probate Fees Act, Town Planning Act, Kimberley Incorporation Act, Natural Products Marketing Act, Civil Service Act, Escheats Act, Legal Professions Act, Woodmen's Lein for Wages Act.

Municipal Elections Act, Chiropody Act, Optometry Act, Municipal Act, Village Municipalities Act, Meter Act, Hospital Act, and Consumer Credit Act.

Private bills include measures to amend Vancouver Incorporations Act, and incorporate British Columbia Automobile and General Insurance Company and National Fidelity Insurance Company.

Committee Plans to Improve Outlying Parks and Beaches

Improvements to outlying parks and beaches were decided on yesterday at the first meeting this year of the Victoria and Saanich beaches and parks committee.

A tour of the beaches and parks under the committee was made yesterday. It is set up each year for the Summer season.

Reeve E. C. Warren of Saanich was appointed chairman. Representing the city on the committee are Mayor Percy E. George, Ald. F. N. Cabeldu, Ald. H. M. Diggon, and Ald. Waldo M. Skillings. For Saanich are Councillors Len Hobbs, Thomas Alexander, and W. C. Kersey.

The committee visited Gorge Park, Cadboro Bay Beach, Cordova Bay Park, the northwest corner of Elk Lake, Eagle Park, Beaver Lake Park, Mount Douglas Park, and several smaller locations.

It decided to get estimates on cost of building a new bath house at Gorge Park, using the lumber from an old building at the northwest corner of Elk Lake.

Junior Chamber Draws Plans For 'Paint-Up, Clean-Up Week'

Five active members of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce had their heads together last night to discuss plans aimed at making this city literally shine like a new penny.

They were D. H. "Happy" Holmes, Joe Manton, Norman Parkins, Laverne Sands and Clyde Elford members of the Junior Chamber's "Paint-up, Clean-up" committee.

Their plans dealt with the organization's annual "Paint-up, Clean-up Week," a city beautification project to be observed this year between May 3 to 8.

Through efforts of this group, all citizens of Greater Victoria will be urged to make their city a neat and tidy place in which to live. They'll be asked to clean up the back yard, keep streets and roadways clean of debris, and have houses and business establishments properly cared for and painted.

Even children of the area will have an opportunity to participate. In public schools throughout the area, students will compete in poster and 100-word essay contests, both based on the "city beautification" theme. Winners and those receiving honorable mention will be honored at a special banquet to be held at the Douglas Hotel, May 7, at noon. Winners of the contests will be announced at that banquet.

Members of the special committee have expressed the hope that all citizens and businessmen will assist fully during "Paint-up, Clean-up Week."

Prairie Flood Conditions Send Rail Official Reluctantly East

J. P. Johnson, vice-president of the Canadian National Railway's Western Region, is a soft-spoken, pleasant, top-ranking railroad executive who likes Victoria, has the interests of his company at heart, and wished yesterday he could have spent more than just one day in this city.

[illegible] C.N.R. officials, he arrived here yesterday morning to start and finish a busy day's program. His hasty departure last night was due to problems caused by floods on the Prairies—problems that required his presence at the scene.

However, he was available for a brief interview in the afternoon, during which he said:

1. The Canadian National Steamships new $3,000,000 Ss. Prince George nearing completion at Yarrows Ltd., "is a splendid ship, a credit to her builders." He hoped the vessel would be in operation "early in June," and said the ship would ease the British Columbia [illegible]

2. There was nothing to announce regarding the possibility of the company building a sister ship to the Prince George "if and when a decision is made it will be announced by the president."

3. "Something definite" by way of improvements at Ogden Point docks could be expected at an early date. Company officials have discussed ways and means to take care of any appropriations from the Government, he added.

4. Ogden Point docks—owned by the Department of Transport, with C.N.R. acting as agents—"will be available for anyone wishing to use them."

"We don't discriminate against any shipping company," the vice-president remarked.

5. Practically all C.N.R. offices and personnel of Victoria would soon be consolidated in premises now being prepared in the Haileybury Building, corner Government and Fort Streets. It was hoped the new premises would be occupied by November 1.

[illegible] George have been chosen. Her skipper will be Capt. E. B. Caldwell of Vancouver, who has served as master of the C.N.S. passenger ship Prince Rupert. Leslie Wilson, Vancouver, will be chief engineer and R. "Bert" Robson, also of Vancouver, will be head purser. John Kerr will be chief steward.

Bernard Allen, C.N.R. manager for British Columbia accompanying Mr. Johnson, said the Prince George will have a complement of about 122 officers and personnel, most of them from Vancouver, and the majority from ranks of the company.

Other Western Region officials in the party included J. M. Macrae, freight traffic manager; W. Stapleton, passenger traffic manager; F. V. Seibert, industrial commissioner, and H. S. Soreham, public relations representative. Their offices are in Winnipeg.

From Vancouver were K. E. McLeod, general passenger agent; W. Hately, general freight agent, and C. A. McMillan, superintendent of Canadian National Steamships.

YOUNG P.C. MEETING

Members of the Young Progressive Conservative Association of Victoria will hold their regular meeting tonight at 1012 Langley Street at 8. Guest speaker H. Clark, Vancouver, will speak on "Scientific Government." The president of the organization will give an account of a recent trip to the Ottawa convention.

Letters Tell Pleasure Given by Food Parcels

"I am writing on behalf of my old mother, aged nearly 90 and nearly blind, to thank you very much for a great surprise parcel of food received from you."

This is a typical reply from those in Britain who have received food parcels from the Mayor's Fund, parcels for Britain, during the last year.

The voluntary committee which organized the work for the fund, inaugurated by Mayor Percy E. George, has been receiving warm thanks from those who were sent the 3,407 parcels mailed last year. Receipts for the fund have totaled more than $21,600 so far and all of the money has been spent on parcels.

To celebrate the first birthday of the fund, there will be a tag day this Saturday to raise money to continue the work.

Fifteen more taggers are needed for the tag day. Those wishing to take part are asked to phone Mrs. Kenneth Drury, at Garden 7410.

"The parcel came as a surprise and we shall use every bit of it," one letter to the committee said. "We are old people and haven't had a parcel before. We don't know anyone in Canada who could have thought of us so you can guess how pleased we were."

Night School Displays End Year's Work

Final session of the Greater Victoria School Board's night school will be open to the public tonight, and visitors will be able to see work done during the past session. The exhibits will be on display at the Oak Bay High School and Quadra School. Both schools will be open to the public between 8 and 10 p.m.

At Oak Bay High School three classes will have displays. Dresses and costumes designed and made by the students will be shown, and also many oil and water color paintings done under the guidance of H. Moorhouse. Woodwork displays will also be exhibited by a class that has been under the direction of John Magee.

Another woodworking class, under P. Hole, will have a display of its work at the Quadra School workshop.

Knot-Hole Fan Nabbed

A small boy with a jackknife last night had great difficulty finding a knot-hole in the new fence which surrounds Athletic Park.

He heard cheering swell from within as hometowners applauded the Athletics in their triumph over Spokane.

As cheering increased, temptation, as old as the game of baseball itself, conquered the boy.

The knife clicked open and whittling commenced.

But the act was nipped in the bud. A city prowl car appeared.

"We picked up a boy carving a peep-hole in the ballpark fence," the prowl car radios headquarters. "We are taking him home to be warned by his parents."

FOUND GUILTY

Hugh Davidson, Esquimalt, was sentenced to serve 30 days in jail in Esquimalt police court Tuesday morning when found guilty on an assault charge.

Davidson also was sentenced to serve five days for causing wilful damage to property. He was given one day in default if payment for the damage was not made.

Prorogation

Prorogation of the third term of Provincial Legislature, after the longest session in 18 years, brings with it the inevitable summing up of what actually was accomplished in that time. The longest session seems to have coincided with the longest budget. From anticipated revenues and from loans, British Columbia is planning to spend some $106,000,000 in the current fiscal year. Taxation will be increased directly under the new $12,000,000 sales tax and indirectly in the working out of the new provincial hospitalization scheme, wherein from $9,000,000 to $12,000,000 may yet be involved. The costs of most governmental services have gone up, and some hundreds of additional civil servants must be added to the payroll if these measures are to be carried out.

Fresh municipal relief, one of the pressing issues of the session, has been confined to a scant one-third share of the sales tax, when that is placed in operation. The sales tax alone will take larger sums than that out of municipal areas, two-thirds of which, less the problematical cost of administration, will go into provincial coffers directly. It is apparent now that the Province was determined mainly to help itself, and used the municipalities as a vehicle towards that end. One year from now if the municipalities are no better off they will be back again on the Government's doorstep, next time with more cohesion and determination than was the case before.

The voting of supply for provincial services, one of the largest public works programs in history, continued expansion of the hydro-electric development scheme, and added costs for departmental services everywhere, will leave the taxpayers in little doubt where they stand. They will foot the bill. The working out of the sales tax and the hospital scheme, both still in a nebulous state, will come next. The Government stands pledged in both issues, and now must produce a result.

Weather Forecasts

Victoria always was "different" in the matter of its weather, with a sharp cleavage from what pertains to the rest of Vancouver Island and a still deeper one with respect to the Mainland of British Columbia. No other part of Canada that we have heard of ever expects its Spring in February, and feels elevated if that does not eventuate. Nor are there many communities where "Sunshine—12 hours, 48 minutes" appears so consistently in the record. The reasons, of course, are geographical and topographical, and always they will be there.

The conjunction of land and water, the Olympics to the South and the Sooke Hills to the West, and three wind funnels that operate in three distinctly different ways, go into what makes Victoria "different" in its year-round climate. That there is a difference in ten miles of Vancouver Island to the south has been known for more than 100 years. Winds from the Strait of Juan de Fuca, the Strait of Georgia, and sometimes out of Puget Sound, all help to clear Victoria's atmosphere of clouds and remove the fog that blankets other sections of the coast at times. Fewer clouds mean less rain, almost the entire absence of snow, and more sunshine. Proximity to the sea lessens the period of frost, and so it goes through the whole range of weather vagaries.

The practice in the past was to predict Victoria's weather from Gonzales Hill, where early meteorologists made quite a success of it. While the new system, with reports being filed at Vancouver, may give a better picture of British Columbia's weather as a whole, it certainly has fallen short with respect to Victoria. That situation is likely to remain until there has been some reversion to the system that worked so well before, with predictions on the spot. There has been some concession made already. In our view, there could well be more.

Combatting Delinquency

Any steps which will tend to remove conditions which give rise to juvenile delinquency are to be commended, and for that reason the proposal to establish a memorial farm for boys lacking proper home care is worthwhile. It is a fact that the Borstal system is unavoidably a curative rather than a preventative factor, and an institution which may influence a boy for good before instead of after getting into mischief should be of decided value in the social scale.

The movement now being launched to provide for such a farm is to honor the memory of Vancouver's late mayor, Senator G. G. McGeer, but the intention is to make it province-wide in scope. Possibility of placing the farm on Vancouver Island has been mentioned, although that does not seem quite so likely. What matters most, however, is that a project of this nature should be put into effect irrespective of site.

Many a youth unfortunate enough to have an unhappy family background is forced into an environment that undoubtedly has most to do with his subsequent behaviour and the company he keeps. At an institution such as this he would have every chance to learn the things that make for good citizenship, and to look on the world with new eyes. There should be a place in British Columbia for a hobby farm of this nature. It would offer the hope of a decent, straight-forward career for many an under-privileged boy whose future is dimmed through no fault of his own.

Disability Pensions

An increase of 25 per cent in disability pension rates, instead of the 16 per cent proposed by the Government, may be in sight as a result of the adoption of such a recommendation by the veterans' affairs committee of the House of Commons. Two other motions, one to grant a 33 per cent increase and the other to allow 25 per cent plus a cost of living bonus, were voted down. The unanimity of Liberal committee members, plus the abstention of the Minister concerned from the final vote, is considered to indicate prior agreement with the Government.

A 25 per cent boost in present rates would increase the monthly amount for a totally disabled veteran from $75 to approximately $94. The Government had previously been adamant in offering only an increase to $87. Veterans' organizations across the Dominion had represented that a 100 per cent war disability should be worth $100 per month, and with this claim there will be few dissidents outside political ranks. In all conscience such an amount does not seem too much to ask, in view of the great sacrifice made by men now minus a limb and the capacity to earn a normal living.

It is not likely that the Government will do more than accede to the recommendation of the Commons committee. While that in itself remains to be proved, the chances are that some arrangement was made behind the scenes, in order to save the political fences of Liberal members of the committee. One regrets that veterans' pensions should be bargained over in this fashion, and that a more generous allowance could not have been favored. The 25 per cent increase however, would help materially, even if it is less than is deserved.

Bows to the Storm

One good purpose was effected by the Saanich Council in proposing to raise sharply the cost of dog licences, and that was to bring home to all residents the problem facing the community through destruction of sheep by marauding dogs. The council wisely has bowed to the storm of protest by dog owners and withdrawn the proposal. On these same owners, however, will rest a continuing responsibility to keep their dogs out of harm's way, the harm in question coming to sheep breeders through the loss of valuable stock.

The curfew regulation may help to ease the situation much better than a levy which by its invidious nature was bound to create the resentment its proposal aroused. No one can say for certain what breed of dog may have been doing the damage and given the chance many of them might show the same destructive tendencies, unimpeachable pedigrees notwithstanding. Sheep breeders themselves will also have some responsibility to take what steps they can for the protection of their animals. By general co-operation throughout the Saanich area the seriousness of the problem may be lessened.

Clean but Hazardous

Cleanliness may be next to godliness as has been said, but it has little to do with traffic accidents. If any alderman thinks it has he must be in a minority of one. Ignoring the litter that one sees quite frequently, Victoria may as stated have the cleanest and best streets for its size on the continent, albeit that is a big claim. The quarrel of people who get hurt through traffic hazards is not with the streets, however, but with lack of measures to make them safe for travel. Nor is it an excuse for inaction to say that people will always get into accidents. That is true. The point is that steps should be taken to make traffic hazards as few as possible, without regard for what happens in some other city. Any civic official who thinks Victoria street corners at several busy intersections are as safe as they are clean must be walking around in blinkers.

Spring's Saraband

Over the hills in April
With soft winds hand in hand,
Impassionate and dreamy eyed,
Spring leads her saraband.
Her garments float and gather
And swirl along the plain,
Her headgear is the golden sun
Her cloak the silver rain

With colour and with music,
With perfumes and with pomp,
By meadowland and upland,
Through pasture, wood, and swamp,
With promise and enchantment
Leading her mystic mime,
She comes to lure the world anew
With joys as old as time.

The bluebird in the orchard
Is lyrical for her,
The blackbird with his meadow pipe
Sets all the wood astir,
The hooded white spring beauties
Are curtsying in the breeze,
The blue hepaticas are out
Under the chestnut trees . . .

Growing Up

Frank M Kelley

Always of interest to local members of the yachting fraternity privileged to fly the Blue Ensign and the triangular-shaped burgee of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, the current issue of the club's annual Year Book is just as full of salty information to Mr., Mrs. or Miss Helmsmart as it has ever been.

The 1948 Year Book, in addition to listing the Commodore and flag officers of the club, contains a roster of senior and junior members, resident and non-resident, totalling over five hundred, together with the names and owners of craft, power and sail, who rate as active members.

As a foreword, the Year Book states the Royal Victoria Yacht Club is "growing up." Which means, one presumes, it has reached a stage when it has every right to expect a more gratifying reward for the efforts it has made these many years to publicize the advantages of possessing a boat, which, with the facilities for cruising and racing presented hereabouts, would assure its skipper and friends a large share of enjoyment, year in and year out, during all seasons.

NO CHEAP PASTIME

By no means is yachting a cheap pastime, but it is, if not so widely appealing to the average person, not much more expensive than owning and driving a first-class motorcar, and while it may not be so convenient as the automobile, to know its worth one must experience the pleasure a boat can furnish in week-end or more prolonged holiday outings in an area which offers such scenic delights and exhilarating days as can be found within an hour's run in any direction from the bay alongside which the Cadboro Bay clubhouse stands.

If it is peaceful cruising under pleasant skies and in protected waters, with anchorage havens available, the boat owner craves, he can find these ready to his liking among Gulf of Georgia Islands, while if his yen is for jousting with big sea waves he can get his fill of these by heading his little "horse of tree" down the Strait of Juan de Fuca and get the crust of real salt on foredeck and head sails.

All of which makes Victoria an ideal location for an active yachting organization. This has been appreciated for a long time, before there were any organized clubs to foster the sport. Ownership of a sailboat gave a citizen a better-than-ordinary standing in the community, placing him on a par with the lucky chap who took his pleasure navigating a horse and buggy or maybe a two-horse power rig.

But what really started an abiding interest in boating in these northwest parts of America were occasional "brushes" between local sailing-boat enthusiasts and the more rare contests arranged between craft from Victoria, Puget Sound and Bellingham Bay.

Competition is the life of a yachting organization, just as surely as it is of trade. Without racing there would be little incentive for a yacht club to "grow up." Racing has always had the prominent spot with the R V Y C, and according to the extent contests are fostered so will the organization continue to thrive. Club regattas, particularly, supply the zest for growth. Without regular tests of seamanship and boat qualities and in spite of all the favorable furnishings Nature supplies, a sailing organization would soon be shaking in "irons" with no "way" on.

Annual publications like the Year Book go a long way in building up a yacht club and keeping it "on its toes." This one possesses information that can be useful to the small boat navigator time and time again. There are tables covering a number of necessaries, such as for instance the time it takes to hear the echo from blasts of foghorn or siren between shore and boat, which gives the boat's position in relation to the shore during foggy weather.

PAST COMMODORES

Of particular interest in the Year Book is the roster of past commodores serving the club since it was first organized. First to take office was G A Kirk, of Turner, Beeton & company, who may be appropriately called the father of organized yachting in Victoria.

According to the "book," he first took office in 1895, and was unanimously elected for five subsequent terms. He owned the first boat of real yachting structure, sail plan and equipment to spread its white wings in local waters. The Volage was built at Hongkong, freighted across the Pacific and unloaded here in the early nineties.

Frank Barnard succeeded Kirk. Among commodores who served three years and more were H. T. Barnes, F. A. Lindsay, J. Musgrave, T. Mercer, Col Pepler and W. H Langley. At that, the list of past commodores omits the names of men who served between 1907 and 1911. I feel sure Arthur Crease or W H Langley could supply this information for next year's Year Book, and so keep the record complete. Imperial Bank Manager Gibb served two or more years about that time, and somehow memory connects "Billy" Piggott with the office about then.

"ABOLISHING CAPITAL PUNISHMENT IS SIMPLY ASKING FOR THIS SORT OF THING"

English as Governments Speak It

From a Speech by E. H. Keeling, M.P., in the British House of Commons

An official statement should be direct, simple, brief, vigorous, lucid, and certain rules for achieving these qualities are generally accepted. The first is that the writer ought to prefer the simple word to the far-fetched.

A Government department is more likely to be understood if, instead of saying "implement" it says "carry out" or "fulfil." Again, why must it talk of "ablution facilities" when it means "wash basins?" Why does it talk of "proceeding" when it means "go," and why are people asked to "donate" instead of to "give?"

Is it necessary for a Ministry to say "unfavorable weather conditions" when they mean "bad weather?" When a Minister refers to "sabotage" would he not consider saying "wreck" or "damage" or "destroy" instead? When there is to be "rehabilitation" or "reconditioning" might it not be much better if the thing were "repaired" or "restored?"

For "evacuate" why not use "rescue," "empty," or "clear," and would not a Government letter which said that "his garment suffered minor damage, but is capable of reconditioning," have been better to say that "his trousers are torn?"

The second rule is that the writer should prefer the concrete to the abstract. It is not much good telling a miner, as he was told in a White Paper last year, to "make a constructive and flexible approach to the problem of production."

The Ministry of Food tell us that "the fats position will be relieved" when all they mean is that more fats will be available. The Ministry of Health, in referring to the war, say that "the cessation of house-building operated over five years," but "operated" is a singularly inappropriate word; why not say "no houses were built for five years?"

The Ministry of Fuel and Power warn us that "the coal stocks position is extremely serious," they mean, no doubt, that "coal stocks are dangerously low?" My right hon. friend the Leader of the Opposition, on June 17, 1940, did not say "the position in regard to France is extremely serious," he said "the news from France is very bad."

The third rule is to prefer the short, straight speech to circumlocution. Must everything be in short supply—cannot it be scarce? Must people always "co-operate in a co-ordinated manner," cannot they work together?

A minister sometimes says in this House that he "is prepared to admit," then why not admit it? When a policeman reports that a defendant "was conveyed to his place of residence in an intoxicated condition" what he means and what he probably would say if left to himself, is that he was carried home drunk.

I am going to read a short extract from a well-known lecture by Sir Arthur Quiller-Couch—"Q."

"How excellent a thing is sleep," sighed Sancho Panza. "It wraps a man round like a cloak."

This, says "Q," is an excellent example of how to say a thing concretely. He adds.

"A Government Department would have said, 'Among the beneficent qualities of sleep is capacity for withdrawing the human consciousness from the contemplation of the immediate circumstances may be perhaps accounted not the least remarkable.'"

"How vile," says "Q," "is the abstract noun. It wraps a man's thoughts round like cotton wool."

Again we are frequently told that a matter "is under active consideration." Is it possible for a thing to be considered otherwise than actively? Does a minister ruminate, like a cow? Actually, I am told by a civil servant that this answer really means that they have lost the file and are trying to find it.

"I want to say a word about punctuation. The omission of a comma may alter the meaning of a sentence. Hyphens may be equally important, but they are much neglected by Government publications, including Hansard's. No-Standing Orders are very different from no Standing Orders.

Letters to the Editor

No letter to the editor will be inserted except over the proper signature and address of the writer. This rule admits of no exception. No letter should exceed 300 words in length. Unsolicited correspondence cannot be returned.

POTHOLES

Sir.—Not before time your "Observation Car" drew attention to the ridiculous and wasteful way in which the potholes in the Victoria streets are supposedly repaired. The city should have some competent foremen to supervise the work and so save considerable expense.

The same methods of repairing potholes are used on the Island highways.

Here in making new roads the hollows are filled with earth and the rest of the road is just earth which is covered with a skim of gravel on which the tarvia is placed, consequently in a few weeks big potholes naturally appear, which are eventually temporarily filled in, usually several times.

Stumps of trees should be removed, not just cut off level with a coating of tar. They will rot and big potholes will be the result.

W. B. HUNTON.

SERVANTS OR MASTERS

Sir,—A democratic government corresponds to the directorate of a business firm under free enterprise, representing the public body as shareholders in the public domain. They are chosen as the men most closely embodying the views and wishes of the majority at a given period in our national life. They are chosen to "serve" for a given remuneration. No group of them seems to be able to hold office long without becoming obsessed with the temporary control of lawmaking and enforcement machinery, and the state of mind which looks upon their office, right, or function to dictate to the people what they must or must not do. Hence the growing mass of rules and regulations having the force of law, involving penalties and punishment, a growing army of bureaucrats and enforcement officials.

No wonder it is such an easy step in the minds of extremists to contemplate or grasp after the total power to direct and dictate to the people en toto, ad infinitum. Our danger, and it is assuming serious proportions, is, not that we shall be victims of a "coup d'etat" enforcing totalitarianism upon us overnight with the accompanying octopus of full-scale bureaucracy, complete regimentation; our danger lies in the gradual development of a "ruling" psychology in the minds of men assumed to be elected, to serve, men with an insatiable desire for authority, an ever-widening conception of the need to direct and dictate to the people. The gradual building up of a total force of bureaucrats who come to look upon their position and delegated authority as natural and necessary. A force ready to hand and willing to support and serve the total, permanent, opposition-stifling dictatorship when by propaganda, trickery or force it once gains control.

Our danger lies in piecemeal regimentation, piecemeal socialization; of having in office men purported to hold and represent our conception of freedom of the individual and free enterprise, but who in actual practice try to appease the pink and red socialisers, and maintain themselves in office by adopting piecemeal socialistic legislation.

No directorate loses sight of the fact that it governs only by the consent of the governed, directs only according to the wishes of the shareholders. No major change in policy is considered without first seeking new views and authority from the shareholders.

The twin bills providing for sales taxes and compulsory contributions to plans for hospitalization typify the present trend in erroneous ideas of governance.

Ignoring the labyrinth through which official reasoning would lead us in applying the sales tax act, the loss of revenue involved in collection and enforcement machinery, human reason knows that those who are forced to pay are always able to pass along higher costs, higher taxation to the public at large, including the low income groups.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

Sir,—The writer of a letter which appeared in last Sunday's Colonist seems to take it for granted that the relatives of the victim of a murderer could find some consolation in the murderer's death on a scaffold—but would they? Certainly not always. The desire for revenge is happily far from universal and is always more or less subject to control if, however, the relatives could find any comfort from contemplating the punishment of the murderer would not the pleasure of thinking of him or her spending long hopeless years in jail, with its numberless privations and mental misery, be at least equal to that of the thought that death would soon end, and later had ended, the whole ghastly affair for the murderer—in this life, at any rate?

Observation Car

Bill, the Broad Street Barber, picked up a top left by a young customer and tried to spin it on the floor. "What on earth are you doing?" the boss asked. Before Bill had a chance to reply, Barber Ben interjected: "I think he is saving toys for his second childhood" . . . A young man who was ambitious to become a writer took a long article to the editor of a Port Alberni newspaper. "Far too long," the editor commented. "Could you use it if I boiled it down?" the youth asked. "If you took a gallon of water and boiled it down to a pint, you would still have water," the editor snorted . . When the Keating Squire was returning to his farm early Tuesday evening he encountered a neighbor's son plodding disconsolately along Douglas Street, and stopped to give the lad a lift. "Why the miserable look?" the squire asked. "I made plans to take a girl to a picture show and a dance, but when I called at her house, her mother said she had a bad headache and could not go out," the youth complained. "Did it ever occur to you that some girls use a pill to get rid of a headache, and others use a headache to get rid of a pill?" the squire inquired . . . "You should have seen my birthday cake at the party last night. It had forty candles," a customer said to Tobacconist Martin. "Forty candles! What did you do burn them at both ends?" Martin chuckled . . . A Fairfield woman whose husband was too fond of criticizing delivered herself of the following tirade: "You never hear of women buying hunting licences to slaughter defenceless deer or shoot uneatable ducks or spending several dollars for a ringside seat to see two men try to batter each other unconscious, nor do they sit up all night playing poker and then become so tired they cannot do their work properly the next day."

Today's Answer

Attraction of the moon causes one tide, rotation of the earth causes the other. Ocean water rises in a bulge which follows the moon around the earth from east to west, and, since it takes the moon 24 hours and 50 minutes to go around the earth at the equator each day, the timing of the moon tide is the same. The earth rotates once every 24 hours, therefore the moon tide rises 50 minutes later each day. On the opposite side of the earth, 12 hours away, there is another water bulge. This is forced up by the speed of rotation. The sun, too, has an influence on tides.

West opened the diamond queen and declarer held up his stoppers in the suit, playing the low card. West continued the suit; South won and knocked out the heart ace.

West now led a third diamond to clear away the enemy's last stopper and South soon found that his only chance for nine tricks was to take the spade finesse. When this failed, it was all over, since West had two diamonds ready to cash.

This was a case in which South should not have employed the hold-up play at the first trick. He could definitely count on seven tricks outside of the spade suit, and thus his objective was clearly to make two tricks in spades. The finesse gave him a 50-50 chance; but he would have a sure thing if he had taken the first diamond trick—and the second lead of that suit when West returned it after getting in with the heart ace—and had kept the low diamond for a throw-in card.

Observe how this works. South takes the first diamond and knocks out the heart ace. West continues with diamonds, and South wins. South now has a count on the diamond suit, inasmuch as West showed out on the second round, and he can soon obtain an accurate count on the entire deal. He lays down the top clubs, and when West fails, runs the hearts. He knows now that West started with exactly five diamonds, four hearts and one club, so there can be no danger in throwing him a lead with a diamond and waiting for a return up to the ace-queen of spades.

B.C. Application for Removal Of Rockies Differential Filed

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP) — The British Columbia Government today filed an application with the Board of Transport Commissioners for removal of the "mountain differential" rate on freight hauls over the Rockies

The controversial mountain rate, which has been an issue in the board's rate inquiry over the last 1½ years and more recently in Parliament, is 1⅓ times the prairie level

Counsel for British Columbia in the board's recently-concluded inquiry had said its removal would be sought, and on Tuesday a delegation of Premiers informed the Federal Cabinet that the move actually was under way

By its action today, the West Coast Province is seeking to have the differential rate dealt with separately from the general investigation into the Canadian railway rate structure which the Federal Government has directed the board to undertake

Export Plan Cuts Ration Group Told

LONDON, April 28 (CP) Harold Wilson, president of the Board of Trade, today told the British Columbia trade delegation that Britons had denied themselves any chance they had to increase their clothing ration. This was through concentrating on the export of cotton goods to Canada.

In an address at a luncheon given by the Hudson's Bay Company, Wilson said that at the end of the year Lancashire mills will be exporting cotton goods to Canada at a rate 1400 per cent higher than the previous target or 100,000,000 rolls

Veterans' Group to Recommend 25 Per Cent Boost in Pensions

OTTAWA April 28 (CP) The Commons Committee on Veterans' Affairs voted unanimously Monday to recommend a 25-per-cent increase in war pensions after a prominent Liberal member said there were "good prospects" it would be granted by the Government.

Earlier, by votes of 18 to 15, the committee defeated Opposition motions for a 33 1-3-per-cent increase and for a 25-per-cent hoist plus a cost-of-living bonus.

The motions were made on a bill that includes a Government proposal to raise pensions for war disabled and widows by 18 per cent and those of dependents by 20

The basic pension for a 100-per-cent single disabled veteran now is $75 a month

Veterans Minister Gregg, one of 35 members of the committee, voted against the first two motions but abstained on the third The 25-per-cent request originally came from the Canadian Legion

The Government came through the first two votes because of the aid of H W Herridge (People's CCF Kootenay West), the man who moved for the 25-per-cent hoist

Mr Herridge and 15 Liberals defeated an otherwise combined opposition on the 33 1-3-per-cent motion, moved by Col A J Brooks (PC, Royal).

Its defeat was followed by a new amendment moved by T J. Bentley (CCF, Swift Current), which offered a 25-per-cent increase plus a cost-of-living bonus of $1 for every full point the index rose above 143 That would give $100 on the basis of today's 150.8 index level

When George Cruickshank (L Fraser Valley) did not vote because "he couldn't understand" it the vote ended 15 to 15, and Chairman Leslie Mutch (L., Winnipeg South) had to cast the deciding vote

The unanimous recommendation for 25 per cent closed one phase of the committee's study on the Pensions Bill, but there are others that are liable to delay the increases for some time

U.S. Must Watch Economy As Part of Preparedness Plan

Interpreting the News

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
A.P. Foreign Affairs Analyst

Soviet-controlled newspapers in Moscow and Berlin are predicting that there will be no war now

"This should not engender feelings of complacency among the armed forces," adds the Soviet army paper Red Star

"There will be a political reckoning," say the fifth column editors in Berlin

Which, combined, says Russia will continue to back political pressures with military power to promote her campaign of conquest through world revolution

This is something for America to bear in mind as signs appear that the defensive steps we are taking may stave off World War III

The Communists in Moscow obviously will not deliberately provoke a war as long as expansion is still possible by other means They may be working on the theory that all they need to do is keep us afraid of war By that they force us to dissipate our resources in military preparedness and hope to soften us up for economic collapse and revolution

There is no use kidding ourselves that we can carry on the conflict with Russia, even in its present form, without feeling numerous shocks It has already reached the point where there is practically no dividing line between foreign and domestic affairs.

The introduction to an Associated Press story from Washington recently said "The nation's 'Stop Russia' program kept getting involved today in almost everything Congress discussed"

Money for education, for arms, for agricultural development reductions in taxes social programs Everything has to be considered to its relation to our expenditures for defence and world security

Just as the United States is forced to insure itself against even the outside chances of war, so must the great cities devote their attention to safety programs Industry must devote part of its energy to development of defence against attack

In other words the whole community is forced into wasteful activity and disunity by threats against which it cannot afford not to prepare, yet which may prove to be nothing but threats.

This makes military preparedness only one half of the required program at home as well as in Europe Without complementary attention to the economic and social structure, the ladder to peace will have only one leg to stand on

Mrs. Banks Presents Prizes At Decorated Tables Display

It may be a late Spring in Victoria this year and there may have been a few varieties of flowers missing but they were not noticeable in the profusion of Spring blooms exhibited at the annual Decorated Tables Display held yesterday in the Empress Hotel under the auspices of the Junior Auxiliary to St. Joseph's Hospital. A great number of entries were displayed in each class and almost every variety of Spring flower was used in the floral displays and on the decorated tables.

Mrs. Charles A. Banks, wife of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, who was introduced by Mrs. R. B O'Meara, president of the auxiliary, presented the prizes in the evening at the close of the show

An informal luncheon table arranged by Mrs. J A. Burchett was judged the best table. Centred with an arrangement of leaves, berries in russet red, green and brown, the same colors were used in the russet red hand-woven place mats and in Mrs Burchett's own pottery.

An arrangement of white broom and polyanthus exhibited by Miss Madge Wall was given first place in displays. Miss Wall also won third prize in this class and a second prize for her miniature arrangement.

POPULAR CHOICES

The many spectators voted their choice of the most popular table, floral display and pedestal display, the winners being Mrs Gordon Cameron, best table Mrs J A Burchett, floral display, and Mrs W J Clark, pedestal display

The formal dinner table entered by Mrs. A Robb won first prize A pale peach linen cloth covered the table which was centred with a low arrangement of pink carnations flanked by white tapers in antique Russian china candlesticks. Mrs. Robb used an antique Chamberlains dinner service of green, white and gold and complemented by pale amethyst crystal goblets.

Pink and white was the color scheme used by Mrs Gordon Cameron for her formal luncheon table which won second prize and was voted the most popular table. A Colonial centrepiece of daphne, lysium, lily of the valley, forget-me-nots centred with roses, antique pink and white figurine candlesticks, and pink and white china on hand embroidered Swiss organdy place mats were used.

An illuminated exhibit by Mr. and Mrs E H. Scott, featuring a bowl of anemones, one of daffodils and another of tulips drew much comment from the spectators

The events were judged by Mrs. H. D. Hayes of Portland, Oregon, president of the Washington Federated Garden Club; Mrs W E. Wilhelm, president of the Oregon Federated Garden Club, and Mrs. W. J. Gibbons member of the Vancouver Horticultural Society

Prize winners in the various classes were as follows Class B — Formal dinner or luncheon table, Mrs. A. Robb, first; Mrs. Gordon Cameron, second. V.O.N. Chief Superintendent Deplores Shortage of Nurses

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP).—The Victorian Order of Nurses has given the Canadian people 50 years of service. But it doesn't intend to sit back on its laurels.

There is no room for complacency in the V.O.N., Elizabeth Gartshore of Ottawa told some 300 delegates [illegible] meeting.

". . . There are still millions of people in Canada who are not within reach of the Victorian Order nurse," said Miss Gartshore in her report as convener of the advisory nursing sub-committee. "It is the job of the Victorian Order of Nurses . . . to bring its service to those people. Let us not be complacent and feel that we have done our best work if this objective is not fulfilled."

In an address during a luncheon meeting, Mrs. D. B. Sinclair of the Health and Welfare Department, Ottawa, said the value of the V.O.N.'s work could not be overestimated.

Senator Norman Paterson of Ottawa was re-elected president of the V.O.N. board of governors.

Vice-presidents elected to the executive council include H. E. Sellers, Winnipeg; Eric Hamber, Vancouver.

In her report as chief superintendent of the V.O.N., Miss Maud Hall deplored the nursing shortage. A branch to serve Richmond municipality in British Columbia had requested two nurses.

"As a national voluntary nursing and health organization, we must be sensitive to the health needs of the people of Canada," concluded Miss Hall.

In addition, Victoria Stagettes plan to aid the children of Victoria by purchasing equipment for a "play lot" on Opal Street. The club is sponsoring the Little Theatre production "Little Foxes" on May 21. Miss Enid Dennison, a former Vernon Stagette, was welcomed as a member of the Victoria club.

Royal Tours Help British Fashions

LONDON, April 28 (CP).—West End fashion experts are agreed that an Empire tour by the Royal Family acts as a tonic on Britain's fashion trade.

Already, they say, next year's Royal tour of Australia and New Zealand promises to give the "biggest ever" impetus to British fashion houses and manufacturers.

Buyers representing some of Sydney's largest retail stores and fashion houses have arrived in London to anticipate demand by their Australian customers for clothes and accessories to be worn at functions held in honor of the Royal visit.

"Many more buyers are expected next month," said a board of trade official. "Women in Australia are anxious to know what is most fashionable and what they will be expected to wear at formal dances, garden parties, race meetings and state receptions. The Royal garden parties at Buckingham Palace this Summer should give buyers some indication."

No Federal Repairs To Sea Wall

Saanich Council has been informed by Major-Gen G R Pearkes, V.C., M.P., that the Federal Government was not planning to carry out any repairs to the sea wall at Island View Park on the Saanich Peninsula this year.

General Pearkes advised the council that the Minister of Public Works in Ottawa said that it was felt that the protection of agricultural land was the responsibility of the Province, and possibly should be taken up with Provincial authorities.

The Nanaimo M.P. said he reminded the Public Works Minister that the original wall was built by the Federal Government, and that he considered its maintenance to be Federal responsibility.

The Public Works Minister told General Pearkes that the Federal Government had ruled that the only money to provide for protection work this year was for remedial work when damages were caused by, or endangered, navigation

First Showing of the All-New 1949 MERCURY

Mercury moves up into an entirely new class! It's a bigger, heavier, more powerful, more beautifully appointed car. In appearance, in riding luxury, in engineering and in performance it has new distinction, new advancements everywhere you look.

All-New Long, Low Lines

At first glance this all-new 1949 Mercury reminds you of those low, rocketing racers which streaked across the salt beds of Utah. It's a big car—and exceptionally broad. And it's really low—only 5 feet 3 inches from road to roof line. In its sweeping harmony of curves there's the very spirit of dynamic motion. Yes, this great new Mercury moves like a whisper with its new, powerful, 110 horsepower V-type, 8-cylinder engine.

All-New Interior Luxury

Inside the all-new Mercury you will find that every detail combines maximum convenience and usefulness with clean modern design. The instruments are grouped for easy reading in a housing which is set out from the main panel directly in front of the driver. The rear seat is a full five feet wide and the floor is lowered to give plenty of headroom. From the broad, deep windshield to the big, new rear window you get a wide-open view in all directions. Interior lights come on when any door is opened. The car is ventilated with clean fresh air supplied under slight pressure to prevent closed-car drowsiness and to defog windows. When a Mercury heater is installed the system provides fresh, warm air.

All-New Lullaby Ride

There's a new "Lullaby Ride" in the all-new Mercury which is the result of many features, all developed in perfect balance. The passengers are cradled in the "comfort zone" well forward of the rear wheels. Independent front wheel suspension with coil springs; long, longitudinal rear springs; soft-acting telescopic shock absorbers and the new low-pressure tires all combine to give a new high in riding comfort. The new low centre of gravity and ride stabilizer take the "lean" out of road curves.

All-New Ease of Control

It's a real pleasure to drive this all-new Mercury with its effortless "straight-line" steering. Road shock does not reach the wheel. The all-new hydraulic brakes have a self-energizing action so that they require very little foot pressure.

• • • • • • •

So that's the story—or rather just part of the story—of the all-new 1949 Mercury now ready for your inspection at Mercury and Lincoln dealers. There are many more advancements—too many to mention them all. But when you see it you'll know why thousands soon will be saying "It's Mercury for me!"

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO, April 28 (CP)—A handful of speculative golds and a few of the secondary base metals were heavy traders on good gains, but stocks generally were mixed on the Toronto Stock Exchange. Big Ore Reserves

TORONTO, April 28 (CP)—The International Nickel Company of Canada, Ltd., has as much proven copper-nickel ore reserves today as it had 15 years ago, Robert C. Stanley, president, said at the annual meeting.

At December 31 reserves totaled 221,843,000 tons, and exploration throughout the world is costing about $1,000,000 annually.

Sales of nickel in all forms of 205,278,868 pounds were the highest of any peacetime year except 1937 and Mr. Stanley believed the trend of consumption would continue upward.

The company has 18,750 employees and it cost $136,000,000 to run it in 1947. The cost of operations in Canada, including wages and salaries, was $81,000,000, in Britain and Europe $20,000,000, and in the United States $35,000,000.

Refined copper sales in 1947 were 220,871,157 pounds, compared with 146,777,060 pounds in 1946.

MONTREAL, April 28 (CP)—Dominions continued firm in quiet trading on the Bond Market here with long-term issues in good demand. Provincials, municipals and corporations were in good demand, but offerings were light.

Winnipeg Grain

WINNIPEG, April 28 (CP)—Coarse grain futures showed a firm trend on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange scoring moderate advances in response to export buying and shipper demand. Offerings were light during the active session. Trading in rye futures was mostly of a commission house nature, although light selling American accounts came into the deferred months.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, April 28 (AP)—Grains firmed under short covering on the Board of Trade. The May contracts showed best gains with new crop deliveries inclined to lag. Trading was moderately active. Factors in the upturn were trade reports that the Federal Government had re-entered the flour market on the Pacific Coast, a firm demand for cash grain, and a boost of 1½ cents in the level at which the Commodity Credit Corporation will buy cash wheat at Kansas City.

ATLAS THEATRE "The Foxes of Harrow," Twentieth Century-Fox's eagerly awaited filmization of the sensational Frank Yerby best-seller, opens today at the Atlas Theatre with an outstanding cast starring Rex Harrison and Maureen O'Hara. A story of conflict and violence in troubled and colorful pre-Civil War Louisiana, the film unfolds the drama of Stephen Fox, a dashing, daring and reckless gambler with an indomitable passion for power, of his tempestuous romance with the haughty Creole beauty, Odalie, and of his battle to build Harrow into a symbol of all his hopes.

CAPITOL THEATRE Anyone who considers jitterbug dancing to be strenuous ought to ask Joan McCracken about the Varsity Drag. She wore out 30 pairs of opera-length nylons for this dance number! The Broadway stage star of "Oklahoma," "Bloomer Girl" and "Billion Dollar Baby" was recruited by M-G-M for a featured role in its new Technicolor musical jamboree, "Good News," now showing on the Capitol screen with June Allyson and Peter Lawford in the starring roles.

DOMINION THEATRE Columbia Pictures' "The Jolson Story," spectacular musical in Technicolor set to the heartbeat of America's greatest era in entertainment is now showing at the Dominion Theatre. Larry Parks, Evelyn Keyes, William Demarest and Bill Goodwin are featured in this Sidney Skolsky production which was directed by Alfred E. Green.

PLAZA THEATRE The rise of a sharecropper's son to a position as a college professor, and later to the governorship of a great Southern state, is told in "Louisiana," the unusual Monogram biographical film which opens today at the Plaza Theatre. It is the life story of Governor Jimmy Davis of Louisiana, the song-writing, song-singing chief executive of the state, who began life in an humble country farmhouse. Governor Davis portrays himself in the principal role, and Margaret Lindsay co-stars as his wife.

RIO THEATRE Adventure, thrills and suspense are interwoven in a dramatic story of two women in love with the same man, in Republic's "Spoilers of the North," coming today to the Rio Theatre. The story is laid in the Panhandle section of Alaska, where Matt Conway, played by Paul Kelly, operates a salmon fishing business.

ROYAL THEATRE Warner Bros.' rugged new drama, "Treasure of Sierra Madre," which was photographed south of the border near Tampico, starring Humphrey Bogart, is now showing at the Royal Theatre. Walter Huston, Tim Holt, Bruce Bennett and Barton MacLane are also prominent in the cast. John Huston directed and also wrote the screenplay from the novel by B. Traven.

YORK INTERNATIONAL "Abie's Irish Rose," the new hit film by Bing Crosby Producers, Inc., opens today at the York International Cinema. This delightful comedy from the talented pen of Anne Nichols has been seen and heard by millions via stage and radio. As a stage-play, it had a record run of more than 2,000 performances on Broadway. Favor Stop at Victoria On Alaska Tourist Line

A suggestion that the Alaska Transportation Company include Victoria in its ports of call on a new tourist service to Alaska from Seattle has received favorable consideration it was learned yesterday.

Walter S. Miles, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and keenly interested in shipping activities of this port, forwarded the suggestion. He thought the new Alaska service, to be inaugurated this year, might include a stop at this port either north or southbound.

According to a reply received recently, the Seattle shipping firm felt the suggestion had "real merit," but that any definite decision would be made by the company's president, expected back soon from a visit to Washington, D.C.

Find Fortune In Transport

PORTLAND, April 28 (AP)—Henry Kaiser's Consolidated Builders, Inc., ship scrappers here since the war today reported finding an estimated $100,000 to $150,000 worth of pig lead at the bottom of a navy transport.

Albert Bauer, general manager said it was not known the lead was in the ship when it was bought for $65,750. He explained, however, that the company had taken a chance on finding lead ballast after studying the draught and trim of the ship while it was moored at Astoria.

The firm had bid substantially higher than other scrapping firms. The others ranged from $28,000 to $35,000.

First Halibut Violation

KETCHIKAN, April 28 (CP)—Harley R. Martin, 43, was fined $100 yesterday in the first halibut fishing violation case of the season. He pleaded guilty to illegal possession and admitted having 217 pounds of the fish.

Testimony revealed Martin's boat had engine trouble while en route to Ketchikan from Seattle. He put in at a Canadian anchorage and a Canadian Fisheries Patrol ordered him to proceed here to answer the charge.

Arbitration Bid Withdrawn By Saanich

Saanich Council Tuesday night withdrew its request for arbitration of school estimates of the Greater Victoria School District.

Council took this action following receipt of information regarding an amendment to the Municipal Act, which is expected to lessen considerably the burden of school taxation on farm improvements, excluding dwellings, up to $5,000.

Reeve E. C. Warren said the council had less ground than ever on which to arbitrate owing to the amendment.

Farms containing more than five acres will receive a reduction of taxation on improvements under the amendment.

Saanich Council decided to make no change in the assessment for general purposes. The issue will be discussed further at a council meeting Tuesday when the estimates will be reviewed.

Expert Knows City Weather; Checks Source

Top Canadian weather expert W Gilmore Clarke, acting superintendent of public weather for the Dominion Meteorological Service didn't come to Victoria to find what the weather was like He knew.

Investigating a complaint sent to the service headquarters in Toronto by a private citizen in Victoria and relayed to R W Mayhew Victoria M P., and Rt Hon C D Howe, he is here to find out if weather reports are "on the beam or not

Weather on the Pacific Coast is far from easy to forecast, according to Mr. Clarke. At the district office of the service in Vancouver top-flight meteorologists prepare and chart meteorological data received from many points throughout the province However, much of the weather the Coast receives is manufactured on the broad Pacific and the experts must keep tab constantly with points as far west as Siberia and Japan

Facilities to determine up-to-the-minute weather reports on the Pacific are inadequate at the present time, Mr. Clarke feels, but Canada and the United States are looking into the matter

At present there are only two weather ships on the Pacific sending out regular reports of data concerning direction of storm and other weather details

This isn't enough to give precision, says Mr Clarke A storm moving at 35 miles an hour might be reported moving toward Victoria, but a deviation in direction might occur and the storm would strike elsewhere

An international agreement makes the Atlantic Ocean a better bet and 13 weather ships are supported by the Governments of countries concerned.

Because forecasting for Victoria and the Island is done in Vancouver [illegible] to accuracy of reports, Mr Clarke explains Meterorologists second to none in the Dominion are stationed there but a meteorologist in Toronto knows Victoria's weather without being present

One stage in the forecasting set-up that will receive particular attention during Mr Clarke's investigation will be Victoria's "blind" time The Gonzales observatory sends coded weather observations to Vancouver every hour from 10 30 a.m. to 4 p.m. The last observation taken here is at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and forecasters learn nothing of further weather vagaries until the morning Hence a 24-hour station at Gonzales will be considered.

While in Victoria Mr Clarke plans to poll many organizations concerning Victoria's weather forecasts and perhaps speak to groups on meteorology Producer of the popular C S C radio program which ended recently for the Summer "Clear Up the Weather," he may also broadcast locally

Official Says Recreation Plan in Parks

Trend to place more emphasis in parks work on active recreation facilities is noted by Parks Administrator W H Warren in his annual report presented Monday to City Council.

Victoria's parks cost $200,784 to [illegible] with a per capita cost of $1 85, based on a city population of 63,100, Mr Warren said.

"This was considerably higher than in any previous year," he noted.

Maintenance work at the parks, according to the report, cost Beacon Hill Park, $27,394, Central, $1,953, Hollywood, $1,654 Macdonald, $3,449, Pioneer Square, $7,866 Royal Athletic, $14,763, Spencer, $13.50, Stadacona, $3,060, Victoria West, $1,295.

New work at Beacon Hill Park cost $10,092, and at Stevenson Memorial Park, $2,503 Playground supervision cost $4,007, playgrounds and playlots, $3,696, and playground equipment, $536 Caterpillar control cost $905 Ross Bay Cemetery cost $9,832

Mr Warren said that a larger share of the parks department work is catering to recreational needs of the community

Tea-growing got its first start in Ceylon after 1869 when a blight destroyed vast coffee plantations there

Would Use Flowers On 'Islands'

Decoration of traffic islands on city streets with concrete flower boxes as used in Britain, was suggested to City Council Monday by parks administrator W. H. Warren in his annual report.

Mr Warren advanced the idea to supplement the hanging baskets, [illegible] tain from June 8 to September 25

He said several United States cities have attempted to duplicate Victoria's baskets but "none have approached our standard of perfection"

Workers Ask Increased Car Allowance

Saanich Municipal Employees' Association Tuesday night started negotiations with the municipal council for increased rates for car allowances

Roy Wootten, association president, [illegible] adding that the requests are being made in view of increased costs of cars, gasoline and repairs

For shovel and grader men the association asked that the allowance of $10 be increased to $15, and that the ward foremen's allowance be increased from $20 to $30

Council asked the association representative to bring in a report of the number of miles traveled by the employees for a certain period so a decision could be made. Increases will retroactive

For the wiring, plumbing, building inspectors and the social welfare officer the association representative asked for $30 for the first 400 miles and eight cents a mile thereafter The council offered $35 a month and 2½ cents a mile for each mile thereafter.

Mr Wootten will take the council's recommendations back to the association for approval

Assistance for Japan Urged For Benefit of World Trade

Assistance to Japan by the Western powers to enable that country to build up her industries and trade with Eastern Asia was advocated by Brig. Sherwood Lett, K.C. Vancouver, Tuesday in an address before the Pacific Northwest Trade Association, at the Empress Hotel.

In a talk entitled "Prospects for phasized that the war's and had left Japan economically helpless "Japan needs some financial stability . . . and she'll have to get it through outside assistance, possibly the World Bank," he said.

Her financial stability would come about eventually with rehabilitation of her domestic industries and resumption of trade with Eastern Asia, he remarked.

He estimated Japan's present population at 80,000,000, "and by 1953 that will have been boosted to 85,000,000."

What were the immediate prospects of trade with Japan?

DEMOCRACY ESSENTIAL

Brig. Lett expressed his opinion that the next five years would be "more or less an experimental period."

He stressed the importance of Japan becoming a democracy.

"If democracy can't provide some form of trade and commerce for Japan, Russia will," warned the speaker.

He indicated that in rebuilding trade with Eastern Asia, Japan would need many goods . . . goods that could be supplied by the Western powers.

It was noted that Japan knew the Eastern Asiatic markets, and that country could help itself and other democracies with her knowledge.

"The great market of the Orient will not remain undeveloped forever," Brig. Lett stressed, "Russia will get it if Japan doesn't."

He said Japan had the necessary labor, but required tools and machinery.

GENERAL REVIEW

His address included a general review of Japan's history, and mention of the fact that in a 60-year period ending about 1930 that country ranked fifth in the world's trading business.

Since the end of the World War he added, Japan has been completely stripped of all means of manufacturing armaments of any description.

The morning sessions concluded with an address by L. A. Colby, of Missoula, Montana. He spoke on economic effects of the high dam program on the headwater areas.

The several hundred delegates attending the parley from the Pacific Northwest and Alaska concluded their 19th general conference at a joint luncheon with the Victoria Kiwanis Club.

Club Members See Race Films

A fast-moving film showing races and automobile tests conducted at the Indianapolis Speedway, was shown to members of the Victoria Electric Club Tuesday at the Strathcona Hotel.

The picture depicted various mechanical phases of the automobile industry, with particular attention being paid to trial operations of the vehicles. It included showings of parts of races held at the famous speedway since the first in 1911, and concluded with highlights of all competitions held in 1946.

GRANTS $100

A $100 grant to the Citizens' Memorial Day Committee for the ceremony June 6 was authorized by City Council Monday.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

THE WORD "REMORSE" AND "SATAN"

Both of these words have interesting derivations, in the sense of pattern of transference from a literal origin to a common usage of wider significance. In other words, the imagination which makes metaphors really made these words in the sense in which we know them.

"Remorse" comes through the old English and old French remors, from the Latin remordere. This breaks down into the prefix re (again) and mordere, "to bite" . . . "to bite again."

From that came the extension to the sense of guilt, the "guilty conscience," which gnaws and bites—bites again and again—"remorse."

Incidentally, the same root, "to bite" gives us also the quite harmless "morsel." A morsel of food is, etymologically, from the Latin mordere ("to bite") and morsus, "a biting," just a little bite.

And the same Satan is a similar imaginative extension from the original Hebrew Satan, meaning "an adversary"—namely, the great adversary of mankind.

Backing up Len Kasparovitch's masterful pitching stint with a smart performance Victoria Athletics defeated Spokane Indians, 5-2 at Royal Athletic Park last night, to sweep their first home series.

Kasparovitch was at his best. He kept the batters on his hip all evening as he hooked up in a hurling duel with veteran Gene Babbitt. He showed blazing speed and his sidearm curve was never far off the corners. Both runs against him were unearned and he was only in trouble twice.

Babbitt was deadly in the early innings as he kept ahead of the hitters, but he tired in the latter innings. As he weakened, Kasparovitch got stronger.

In addition to his five-hit flinging Kasparovitch drove in what proved to be the winning run in the seventh inning when he singled into short left field over the heads of the in-drawn infield, driving in First Baseman Paul Jones who had tripled.

Jones gave an improved performance both offensively and defensively. He walked in the fifth inning, stole second, and scored the tying run on Lou Kubiak's single. His booming triple off the centre field fence started the game-winning rally in the seventh, and he drove in the final run with a single through third in the eighth. On the defensive side, Jones picked up three assists and snuffed out a Spokane attempt to get back into the ball game in the eighth inning when he picked Frank Cirimele's low throw out of the dirt to complete a double play.

INDIANS SCORE TWICE

Spokane scored both their runs in the third inning after Jack Palmer bobbled Tom Nelson's drive in the short patch. Al Orlando forced Nelson at second and scored the first run on Bill Wright's double. Wright later counted the second tally as Bud Sheely lined a hit into right field.

Archie Wilson picked up Victoria's first hit in the fourth inning and scored all the way from first as Sal Recca followed with a double off the centrefield fence.

The A's tallied the tying run in the fifth and went ahead to stay with a two-run spree in the seventh. Jones opened the inning with a triple, Kasparovitch singled, was sacrificed to second, took third on Kubiak's single and scored on a fielder's choice. In the eighth Recca opened with a single, was safe at second as Orlando dropped a double-play ball, took third on Charlie Balassi's single and scored the final run on Jones' single. A sixth run was lost when Jensen was the victim of a questionable call at the plate as he attempted to score from second on Jones' single.

The A's open a four-game series with Wenatchee Chiefs at Royal Athletic Park tonight. Manager Ted Norbert announced last night that Larry Ward is his choice for the starting mound assignment. Tom Rose is expected to start for the Chiefs.

TIGERS BOOST LEAD

Tacoma Tigers increased their lead at the top of the standings to a game and a half by trouncing Yakima Packers, 14-8. Yakima's loss dropped them into a fifth-place tie with the Victoria Athletics.

A double header between Wenatchee and Vancouver and a single contest between Bremerton and Salem were rained out.

Hunters Enjoy Better Sport

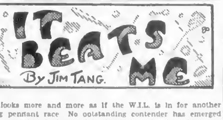
HARRISON HOT SPRINGS, B.C., April 28 (CP)—Figuratively speaking, resident and non-resident hunters of British Columbia enjoyed better sport in 1947 than for many years previous.

Dr. Ian McTaggart Cowan, Department of Zoology at U.B.C., speaking before the second annual game convention in session here, released figures today which showed more game, especially moose, had been taken last year than at any other time since records had been kept.

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS, B.C., April 28 (CP)—Formation of a British Columbia Fish and Game Zones Council has been completed.

At a meeting here last night, Phil Eastman of Kelowna was elected council president with Robert Carswell of Vernon secretary-treasurer. Harvey Sedgewick, president of the Lower Mainland Zone, was chosen vice-president.

Zones will be recognized in accordance with recognition by the game commission, and there will be two council delegates for each zone.



It looks more and more as if the W.I.L. is in for another exciting pennant race. No outstanding contender has emerged after two weeks of play, and it should be a battle right up to the wire for the four play-off berths.

Spokane and Vancouver, ranked at the top in pre-season forecasts, have been taking their bumps regularly. The same can be said for Victoria's Athletics, who also had a high pre-season rating. Tacoma has come up with a contending club, and Wenatchee, Yakima and Bremerton are unexpectedly strong.

With practically every club in the circuit banking on additional help from parent clubs, any reasonable prediction of how they will finish in the W.I.L. is practically impossible. With some teams it will depend on how much the rookies improve, and with others on how much the vets have left.

It seems certain that the pitching in the league will be improved. Most teams have three or four hurlers capable of going the route, and there should be fewer of those basketball-score fixtures so prevalent last season. In most of the high-scoring games to date, errors have been mainly responsible. The large number of boots is attributable to the wet and cold weather all clubs have encountered ever since the opening of Spring training.

Victoria's hopes for a pennant depend on how much additional help the Yankees are able to send and on how fast some of the young players develop. It should be fairly reasonable to assume that the A's will make it somewhere in the first four.

Manager Ted Norbert has better pitching than he had a year ago, and this is going to count. Joe Blankenship is off to a good start and an improved workman. Len Kasparovitch has the ability to win 20 games in the W.I.L. He will near that figure if he gets into condition and his teammates get him a few runs. Del Owens could be another big winner, Larry Ward has the equipment to win, and Dick Walkingshaw is a good prospect. Al Goot, Jim Propst, Frank Logue and Art Kuehl have seen little service as yet. One more proven starter would round out a capable mound staff.

Spahn Limits Philly Club To Two Hits

By Canadian Press

Rain and cold weather put a crimp in major league baseball schedules yesterday, but the 3,651 Bostonians who ventured to the ball park were treated to a near-perfect pitching job by Warren Spahn as he set down the Philadelphia Phillies with two hits to give the Braves a 7-0 victory.

Spahn described the game as the best of his big-league career. He faced 28 batters, of whom three reached first base, Del Ennis making it on an error while Dick Sisler and Bill Donnelly singled. Spahn didn't issue a walk and struck out four. Sisler and Ennis were thrown out while trying to steal.

Cincinnati Reds' 8-1 victory over Chicago Cubs was costly as Catcher Ray Mueller fractured his right ankle while sliding home and will be sidelined for six weeks. Veteran Johnny Vandermeer pitched six-hit ball while Rookie Shortstop Red Stallcup drove home three runs with as many hits.

Detroit Tigers snapped a five-game losing streak with a convincing show of power as they hammered out a 9-4 decision over St. Louis Browns. Al Zarilla made up for three errors in the Brownie outfield by collecting three hits, including two doubles.

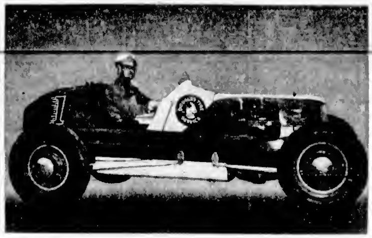
Leading Victoria Driver Ready for Opener

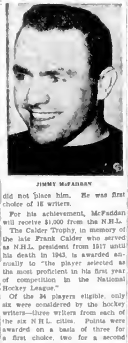


DIGGER Caldwell, Victoria's leading exponent of daredevil driving, will head cast of local throttle-pushers in opening auto racing meet of season at Langford Speedway Saturday evening. Caldwell, who has captured season's laurels four times at Langford during last several years, has had several changes made to his No. 1 car, seen above, and figures to head international field in opener. His remodeled gas buggy features individual rear wheel suspension and is underslung four and one-half inches lower than last year. Car weighs 1,400 pounds and although not any speedier will afford better traction on turns. George Davis is owner. Jimmy Dempster, Caldwell's mechanic for 14 years, will again be in pits.

Detroit Rookie Awarded Calder Trophy for 1948

MONTREAL, April 28 (CP)—Jimmy McFadden, chunky 27-year-old centre of Detroit Red Wings, is the 1947-48 Calder Trophy winner as N.H.L. rookie of the year.

McFadden's selection, announced by the N.H.L. tonight, was almost unanimous among 18 sports-writer selectors. He polled 50 of 54 possible points and only one elector did not place him. He was first choice of 15 writers.



JIMMY McFADDEN

For his achievement, McFadden will receive $1,000 from the N.H.L.

The Calder Trophy, in memory of the late Frank Calder who served as N.H.L. president from 1917 until his death in 1943, is awarded annually to "the player selected as the most proficient in his first year of competition in the National Hockey League."

Of the 34 players eligible, only six were considered by the hockey writers—three writers from each of the six N.H.L. cities. Points were awarded on a basis of three for a first choice, two for a second and one for a third.

Closest to McFadden's 50 points was Pete Babando, left winger of Boston Bruins, with 22. Red Kelly, rugged defenceman teammate of McFadden, was third with 14 points.

Behind came Don Raleigh, New York Ranger centre, eight points, Ed Sanford, Boston Bruins, also eight points and Defenceman Bill Barilko of Toronto Maple Leafs, four points.

McFadden, at 27, is old as rookies go. He weighs 180 pounds and is five feet, seven inches tall.

11TH HIGHEST SCORER

He finished the regular-schedule season—on which the choice is based—in 11th place among the N.H.L. top scorers, with 24 goals and 24 assists for a total of 48 points. In the Stanley Cup playoffs, won by Toronto Maple Leafs, he was fourth highest scorer with five goals and three assists.

He was the only N.H.L. player to collect five assists in one game during the 1947-48 season. He did this against Chicago, November 23. The night before, also against Chicago, he scored two goals in eight seconds.

James Alexander McFadden was born in Belfast, Ireland, but has long made his home at Darlingford, Man., where he owns and operates a wheat farm.

He first joined the Red Wings in the playoffs last Spring, going to the Detroit team from Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey League. Before that he played with Ottawa Senators of the Quebec Senior Hockey League.

As winner of the Calder Trophy, McFadden has the distinction of being the first Detroit player ever to win the only trophy that has eluded the club in its long years of N.H.L. membership. His 48 scoring points for the season also give him the scoring record for a Detroit rookie.

The 1946-47 Calder winner was Howie Meeker of Toronto Maple Leafs.

Former Kitts Star To Head B.C. Boxla

TORONTO, April 28 (CP).—Former defence star with St. Catharines boxla teams, Gus Madsen is leaving shortly for Vancouver to head the British Columbia Lacrosse Commission's board of officials. Madsen, who has officiated for the Ontario Lacrosse Association for several years, was noticed by the Westerners when he refereed Mann Cup playoffs in Toronto.

Set Intermediate Matches Tonight

Two first-round intermediate Province Cup soccer matches will be played tonight. These games were previously scheduled last Saturday but were postponed because of bad weather.

Oak Bay will meet Saanich Indians at Beacon Hill Park at 6.45 p.m., and Saanich Thistles will play Brentwood Aces at Hampton Road at the same time.

Award Winner To Be Chosen This Week-End

Selection of Victoria's outstanding amateur athlete for the past sports season who will be presented with the Sid Thomas Memorial Trophy, will be made this week-end.

The decision rests with three Victoria sportsmen who will scrutinize each of the letters sent to The Daily Colonist Sports Department by fans nominating athletes for the award. Their choice should be announced early next week. The winner of the season's baseball passes will also be announced at the same time. This award is for the best letter writer.

A final rush of letters featured the receipt of nominations which closed last week-end. Although the sports department was not overflowed with epistles, a good number of nominations were received and the judges will no doubt have a difficult task in choosing the winner of the prized cup.

Release Route Of Road Race

Route of the Victoria High School five-mile inter-house relay race on Monday was announced by the officials in charge last night. Teams will be made up of 20 runners from each House.

The race starts from in front of the High School at Grant and Camosun at 7:15 p.m. The course is along Grant to Fernwood, then to Yates, along Yates to Blanshard to Pisgard, then to Douglas, along Douglas to Hillside, returning via Hillside, Blackwood, Cook, Pandora, Fernwood and Gladstone to the High School tennis courts, then around the rugby field, finishing where the Memorial Stadium is to be built.

The race is to become an annual event and will be known as the Victoria High Annual Inter-House Memorial Stadium Race. A copper shield, made by Norman Simister, will go to the winning team.

A concert in the auditorium at 8:15 p.m. will follow the race. Finalists of the school amateur contests will compete. The concert is open to all ex-students and friends at no admission charge.

A house-to-house canvass will be made on Tuesday to raise funds to build the stadium. The committee in charge includes Bill Roper, chairman; R. H. Heywood, E. Cook and J. Andrews.

Calumet Stablemates May Run One-Two in Saturday's Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 28 (AP).—Coaltown turned in another of his amazing workouts at Churchill Downs today, fairly burning up the racing strip for six furlongs and further convincing the experts that Saturday's Kentucky Derby will be strictly a match race between him and his stablemate, Citation.

Four days before the three-year-old classic, little is heard except Citation and Coaltown. Louisville bookmakers are offering even money that the Calumet Farm's entries will run one-two, and from Warren Wright, owner of the two beauties, comes positive assurance that there will at least be a family horse race.

"There will be no declaring to win with either Coaltown or Citation," he said at his home near Lexington. "It will be a real horse race, and may the best horse win."

Ben Jones, general manager and trainer for Calumet, feels the same way about it, and one would swear that "Plain Ben" is just as intrigued at the prospect of watching his two firecrackers go at each other as are any of the thousands of fans already pouring into the city.

Coaltown, who rates as the second barrel of the Calumet shotgun only because he was an ailing colt and never got to run as a two-year-old, ripped off his six furlongs this morning in 1:10 1-5—remarkable time considering the "deep" nature of the Downs track. The track record at Churchill Downs is 1:10 3-5.

Winnipeg Five Downs Clover Leafs In Overtime Thriller to Tie Series

WINNIPEG, April 28 (CP)—Winnipeg Paulins served up a thrill-a-minute performance tonight to top Vancouver Clover Leafs 66-58 in overtime for a triumph that squared the best-of-three Western Canada senior men's basketball finals at a game apiece.

The deciding third game will be played here tomorrow night.

Paulins forged ahead to win the game after being within a split second of defeat. The Leafs, who won the Canadian title last year under the name of Meralomas, were ahead 54-52 with the last play under way. On that play a foul was called against Vancouver's Ollie Bakken and it was on the two free throws that Paulins forced the game into a five-minute overtime.

Eighteen-year-old Doug Gresham, who was high scorer for Paulins in the first game last night which Leafs won 67-61, squared the count at 54-54 on his first toss. He missed the next, but Paulins made no mistakes as they swarmed all over the British Columbians in the extra session.

The last play was actually a repeat performance of what went on just six seconds from the final bell. At that time, Harry Franklin fouled Gresham in a similar scramble in the Leaf zone. Gresham's two shots failed to tie the ball game.

Paulins headed the Coast cagers throughout—leading 11-8 at the end of the first quarter, 30-24 at the half and 48-40 at the curtain time of the third heat.

Both teams played the "race-horse" type of ball in tonight's game and it appeared to be more to Paulins' liking as they wore the Vancouver club into the woodwork in the late stages of the contest.

Line-ups:

Vancouver—Pomfret (10), Weber (17), Bakken (3), Franklin, Bartlett (3), Wrene (2), Henderson, Pickell (1), Watson. Total 58.

Winnipeg—Gresham (16), Bartlett (9), M. Speck (8), [illegible], Watts (4), Williams (8), MacFarlane, Loydon. Total 66.

Edmonton Takes Allen Cup Opener

Western Champions Defeat Ottawa 6-2 In Rugged Tilt—Merluk Scores Twice

REGINA, April 28 (CP).—Edmonton Flyers handed a 6-2 defeat to Ottawa Senators in a bruising 1948 Allan Cup opener.

The Western champions held Ottawa scoreless for two periods being ahead 2-0 and 3-0 at the end of the first two frames.

Bing Merluk scored twice for the Flyers with Billy Maher, Alec Pringle, Doug Anderson and Doug Lane each scoring once. Emile Dagenais and Eddie Emberg scored for the Senators.

Sticks were high and tempers flared throughout the game as the defencemen on both sides handed out crushing body checks. Referees Danny Cox and Frank Elliott handed out 14 penalties during the game—eight of them to Ottawa.

The teams resume the best-of-seven series in Edmonton Saturday.

Ottawa, just as big and just as fast as Edmonton, lacked the Flyers' polish inside the blue line. The Edmonton defence cracked open repeated Ottawa rushes and fired dead-centre passes ahead to their high-scoring forwards.

Bing Merluk got his first goal of the night and the only score of the second period at 17:51 of the period when he caught the corner on a pass from Doug Anderson.

An Ottawa third period comeback was short-lived. Eddie Emberg scored on a pass from 17-year-old Larry Regan. But one minute later Merluk scored on a passing play from Andy Clovechok and Doug Anderson.

Lineups:

Ottawa: Pass, Fraser, Stahan, Malbaraf, Green, Regan, Emberg, [illegible], Cope, McLean, Irvine, [illegible], Check, Smith, Dagenais.

Edmonton: Rollins, Young, MacPherson, Rimstad, Maher, Black, [illegible], Pringle, Stoller, Clovechok, Smillie, Anderson, Merluk, Lane.

Western Junior Champs Capture Third Straight

TORONTO, April 28 (CP).—Port Arthur's rugged West End Bruins moved to within one game of the Canadian Junior Hockey Championship by edging out a narrow 5-4 decision over Barrie Flyers here tonight for their third straight victory in the best-of-seven series.

Bruins can now capture the title when they play Barrie in the fourth and possibly final match of the set next Saturday. Port Arthur had an easy time, taking the first two games with lopsided 10-8 and 8-1 scores.

The Eastern champion Flyers surprised the 11,555 fans attending by coming up with their best game to date. They kept pace with the Bruins almost throughout the match and came from behind three times to tie the score.

Flyers, however, didn't have the extra punch and drive to take over the lead anytime. Bruins did not play as well as they did in the first two meetings between the clubs. Their defence suffered lapses at times while their forwards did little back-checking.

Scoring was well distributed among the winners as five different players each scored one goal. Fred Bacarri, Alfie Childs and Tricky Danny Lewicki each scored once in the first period while Big Pete Durham and Forslund added singles in the middle session. Neither team did any scoring in the even-Stephen third period.

Pivotman Gil St. Pierre was the big threat for the losing Flyers as he connected for two goals and also received one assist. Whit Mousseau and Rusty Aitkin sniped singles while Billy Barrett earned three assists.

Lineups:

Port Arthur—Chabot, Watt, Olsen, Mickey, Lewicki, [illegible], Durham, Forslund, [illegible], [illegible], Creighton, Bacarri.

Barrie—Strachen, [illegible], Long, Mousseau, [illegible], McNabney, [illegible], Reid, St. Pierre, Barrett, Aitkin, Mesar, Pavero.

Pacific Meat will tangle with Calder Lions at Heywood Avenue at 2:30 p.m., in a replay of last week's 1-1 tie on the Mainland for the Division III honors. Balmoral Thistles and Kerrisdale will replay their last week's 2-2 stalemate for the Division V laurels at Heywood Avenue at 1:00 p.m. Hank Casillo will referee both games.

WESTS MEET TONIGHT

The finest championship golf score of the year to date was Claude Harmon's 279 at the Augusta National's Masters show. It was better than Ben Hogan's 275 at Riviera, where the next open will [illegible]

There have been endless discussions of what a championship score should be this Spring, but Claude Harmon has slipped in the best answer to date. The Augusta National was keyed to its toughest test in every way. Riviera wasn't—with its rough cut, with its baked-out fairways and its soft greens.

I doubt very much that 283 will be broken at Riviera in the National Open. Harmon's 279 at Augusta is good enough golf to win any open. And Claude Harmon happens to be a golfer who is quite capable of winning a United States open or the P.G.A.

He has been one of the game's greatest golfers for several years. A 60 over the championship Seminole course is proof enough of that. His power and control will count at Riviera. Watch him at Wykagyl Country Club, in the Goodall Round Robin in May.

LOW SCORES

Henry Cotton, British star, charges that in various tournaments we keep our courses on the soft side of scoring, while the British do not. I can see no reason for any complaint along these lines.

In the first place, the crowds come out to see par ripped to ribbons. They like the 64's and the 65's, and the eight or ten under pars. So the rough is cut, the pins are placed in easy places, and every aid is given the golfer to score in low figures.

Also it would be difficult to tackle real championship courses week after week. It is tough enough over the easier terrains.

Now you don't see many crack golfers asking to play Oakmont. They want no part of Oakmont. A few years ago Byron Nelson, Ben Hogan and two others played a 72-hole match there. As I recall the figures, Nelson won with a 295, several strokes over par. The others were 10 strokes over par.

In a North Carolina tournament recently, 43 players broke par the first round. That many won't break real par—which should have been 67.

As Gene Sarazen told me recently "On a par 5 hole—a real par 5—you don't get home in 2. You have to get down in one putt to get a 4. You are not reaching true par 5s with two wooden shots—much less with a drive and a 5 iron."

DIFFERENT IN CHAMPIONSHIPS

It is generally different in championships. Here they make you play golf to win. For example you see no Opens won with 268's or 247's. No Opens were won with 10 or 12 or 14 under pars.

Par for the 72 holes is generally good enough. No one has ever broken 281 in a United States Open. Only Ralph Guldahl has equalled this figure. A 284 won at Cleveland in 1946 and 282 won at St. Louis last Summer. St. Louis wasn't rated too tough.

The best four rounds Bobby Jones ever had in the National Open was 287 at Interlachen. The best rounds Walter Hagen knew were 290 at Midlothian. The best score Gene Sarazen ever had was 286 at Fresh Meadow.

Modern golf has produced no greater golfers than Jones, Hagen and Sarazen. Look over their title records. Jones, Hagen and Sarazen have around 30 national crowns, or international titles—six times more than any five golfers today.

Last January I saw Ben Hogan win the Los Angeles Open with 275 at Riviera, a true championship test. But it wasn't then. The course was dried out. The fairways were hard—the greens were soft. There was little rough.

To make Riviera a true test the fairways should be soft—the greens hard. The rough should be allowed to grow. The pins should be properly placed for a championship test. If this is done, the winner will need at least 284 strokes, 8 above the L.A. Open count.

At Riviera I saw several golfers playing 420-yard holes with a drive and a wedge—or a drive and a number 8. I don't believe California or the U.S.G.A. should let them get by with these courses for an Open championship.

For the open tournaments, I believe in letting down the bars—so far as scoring goes. If the British want to keep their test tough, this is O.K. too. The British have their way—we have ours.

I would like to see the Open come back to Oakmont where the two leading Open scores were 289 and 301.

Kiser, McLauchlan To Form Tag Team In Grapple Show

Jack Kiser and Jack McLauchlan will match their undefeated team record against Chico Gracia and Bill Bunter in the team tag wrestling bout at the Bay Street Armoury on Saturday.

Fresh men are in the ring at all times in a team match. The grapplers work in pairs with one in the ring and the other on the apron. When the man in the ring gets tired he tags his partner.

Poular Al Szasz will meet Cliff Parker in the semi-main event. Both wrestlers have won their last eight starts on the Pacific Coast and the bout has developed into a grudge fight.

Nick Harris and Bill Lamchuck, both of Victoria, will tangle in the four-round opener.

Sport Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP)—Judging by early results, you may not be far wrong if you pick Yale to be the United States entry in the Olympic eight-oared rowing race . . . Navy and Harvard also are rated as prime contenders for this honor, which is virtually a college monopoly. But it begins to look as though Skip Walz really had something in his extra-fast beat for sprint races. The Elis hit 38 to the minute all the way against Penn and Columbia Saturday and made it look easy, and don't forget, the Olympic race is at 2,000 metres so you can throw out the three-mile races as determining factors. Also don't forget, a crew race is a lot like a horse race. Mere speed doesn't mean anything unless there is a real challenge to the winner.

BI-PARTISAN

Like many old-timers who look on a harness race as a test of wits as well as speed, veteran trainer Bi Shivley isn't fond of modern starting gates. He'd rather have the old "scoring system that gave a good driver a chance to steal a length now and then."

MONDAY MATINEE

Indications are that only seven colts will start in the Kentucky Derby Saturday, bearing out the theory of publicity man Brownie Leach that one standout racer will scare off a lot of possible contenders. Bill Rigney, who has been working out with the Yankees for a couple of days, hopes to rejoin the Giants tomorrow . . . Bobby Jones has hired his first pro-golf tutor, Stewart Maiden, as pro at Bob's new Peachtree Club in Atlanta.

WATCH PROTEINS

Girls from 16 to 20 require 75 grams of proteins daily and boys at that stage require 100. After the 20th year women require about 60 grams daily and men about 70.

"Rags to Riches" Rise Of Longden Great Story

EDMONTON, April 28 (CP)—One of the "most heart-warming stories ever told" is the way Tom (Calgary Albertan) Moore describes the "Rags-to-Riches" career of Johnny Longden, who last week became the first jockey in United States racing history to ride 3,000 winners.

"The records tell of many jockeys who served their apprenticeships on the Canadian Prairies 20 years ago as the West Circuit graduated from the bush-track era and those who went from the Prairies to make names for themselves in the 'Big Time,'" wrote Moore.

"But there is no success story among the hardboots of the Prairie Racing Circuit that can ever match that of Johnny Longden.

"For two years after Longden left school he worked as a mucker at a mine near Taber, Alta. But even then he had a yen for the tracks.

"A family friend persuaded Johnny's father to let the youngster have a whirl at the races and Longden made the move that almost led to disaster but finally to fame.

"He managed to get to Salt Lake City, where his early riding efforts are vague and shrouded. Many claim he won his first race on a mare named All Mum, but he earned official recognition for his first victory on Hugo K. Asher."

DISCOURAGED JOHNNY

A discouraged Johnny managed to get back to Calgary and he got a job as a cigar salesman but the lure of the turf was too strong.

"In 1928, he rode his first winner on the Prairies—Jacques Brothers' Silent Stranger.

"By 1932, all over the Prairie, racing fans were singing the praises of Johnny Longden.

"That year, in Western Canada, there were 70 days of racing. Longden was leading rider by a wide margin with 82 victories, 64 seconds and 44 thirds.

"He rode that year for Don Grant at Vancouver, made his second, and this time successful, invasion of the U.S.

"He quickly started making regular appearances in the headlines.

"Because of ill health, Longden went into semi-retirement in 1936. But he went back. In 1938 he won one of his most coveted titles—World's Leading Jockey. He had 236 winners, 16 more than Johnny Adams and 30 more than Gordon Richards, only rider in the world to also go above the 3,000 mark in victories.

"In 1934 he became the sixth rider in American history to win the 'Triple Crown'—piloting Count Fleet to victory in the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont. Last year his 316 winners, highest since 1906, brought him another leading jockey's title.

"Today the natural lightweight who learned horse sense by living with horses is assured a niche in the all-time records of Canadian and American racing."

Favored My Babu Wins by Head In Rich British Race Classic

NEWMARKET, England, April 28 (AP)—The Maharaja of Baroda's favored My Babu won today's running of the 2,000 guineas, one-mile classic for three-year-olds and richest horse race in British turf history.

The Cobbler, another favorite in the post-time betting, was second. Pride of India finished third.

Senator II, owned by William Woodward of New York and only American entry in the race, was scratched shortly before post time.

My Babu, ridden by Charlie Smirke and favored at 3-1, won a purse of £14,000 ($56,399) for the maharaja, who flew here from Paris for the race.

The favorite scored by a head over Lt.-Col. Giles Loder's The Cobbler, ridden by champion Jockey Gordon Richards. The Cobbler started at 100 to 30.

Pride of India, an outsider at 20-1, finished four lengths behind The Cobbler. Dorothy Pagent's Birthday Greetings ran fourth.

A dead man's horse, The Usher, also ran. The Usher was owned by Maj. Lionel Montagu, who died Monday. One of his last wishes was that the horse start in the race.

Eighteen started the first classic of the British season, after both Senator II and Hunter's Moon were scratched. Both were 66-1 longshots.

The winner's time for the mile was 1:38 6/5.

Bastien Repeater On All-Star Team

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP)—Baz Bastien, star netminder of Pittsburgh Hornets, was the only repeater on the American Hockey League's 1948 All-Star team, announced today.

Bastien polled the largest tally—128 points—on the team chosen by a vote of sports writers and radio announcers of the 11 league cities.

Bastien's teammate, Pete Backor, and Ott Heller of New Haven won the defence posts. The forward line is composed of Cliff Simpson, Indianapolis centre, Pete Leswick, Cleveland right wing, and Carl Liscombe, Providence left wing.

Each member of the first team will receive $300 from the league.

LEE—In ever-loving memory of our dear son and brother, Pte. Edward Lee, lost with H.M.C.S. Athabaskan, April 29, 1944.

That light the darkest road
To the beautiful land of reunion
When we meet at the end of the road.

WE HAD OUR PITCHERS TOOK

TODAY the photographer come down here, and all in the Paper our pitcher'll appear. As part of a promotion on one day you'll all in a Stadium [illegible] of the High School. Three beautiful girls with the shutterman came, and go to us all, he did [illegible]. We'll go outside, across the street. U guys try and look like once an athlete. "Oh yeah, but what about these clients here, my customer I'm selling a chiffonier." And I'm not leaving mine, a brother and she wants a sofa that folds in a bed. "Now LISTEN" and a customer, "just hurry along, we'll all wait here in a patient throng. Get your pitchers took, don't be dumb. If it'll help our old school, get a Stadium." "Well, are you SURE you don't mind, we won't walk out." "No dream . . . beat it!" they chorused, a shout. We'd like to shoot from across the street. HUMBERS IN THE HOME OF THE DAVENPORT SUITE. We blocked a lot. A scuffled around while Mr. Strickland looked for a vantage ground. "Alright now, THIS IN IT, girls, give 'em a look, exquisite. Hold your pencils on the book, like a large donation. You're just 'tops.' Don't hold your hands awkward or, just all act natural for half-a-mo. And you Bruce, try NOT to frown, and YOU, one, quit acting the clown." I looked up in the midst of a laff, and saw an entire office staff behind the windows with gestures & faces, while we were going through our stadium graces. "ALL RIGHT NOW," here's for a "Ceah, remember this picture's to help get the cash." So in my "teen-ages" I threw my best smile as I'll undoubtedly look rather gentle. She was a honey, with natural red hair, so I tried to be careful and debonair. So when you see us outside our Emporium you'll know we're behind the Stadium. So on May the 4th when they call at your door, every pupil in school a solicitor. Just a "little something" won't you too, to "cement" memories forever with the OLD VIC HIGH.

MACK AT GRAY'S

As we look over the stock in this little store today we are at a loss to know what to advertise for sale as so many of the articles of furniture now on the floor are already sold. Since our floor space is so limited and we do not wish to overcrowd it, one or two days of good sales practically empties the place. At times we find ourselves with more vacant spaces than we really like, however, it opens the way for new stock and a pleasant outlook for future business.

COURTENAY, April 28.—Frank Grummett, Courtenay druggist, was elected chairman of the Comox District Branch of the Canadian Cancer Society following a meeting addressed by Dr. P. M. Bryant, Victoria, and Rex Mills, secretary of the British Columbia branch of the society.

Mrs. Thomas Simms was named vice-president, Fred Thatcher, secretary, and Mrs. L. H. F. Bryans, treasurer.

The meeting was called by Dr. Henry Williams, and was attended by 60 residents. Organization and aims of the society were explained by Mr. Mills, who also spoke of the forthcoming "Conquer Cancer" campaign. A drive for funds to extend cancer research and treatment work will begin next month.

Dr. Bryant outlined symptoms of the disease, and said the only known cures were surgery, X-rays and radium treatments. All other "cures" were fostered by quacks, bent on exploiting the public.

Port Arranges Program To Observe Empire Day

PORT ALBERNI, April 28.—Plans are nearing completion for the annual May 24 celebration of the B.P.O. Elks. The celebration this year will extend over several days. The following tentative program has been arranged:

May 14, popularity girls' dance, at which the contestants for the role of popularity queen will be presented. This will be held at the R.C.E.M.E. Hall.

May 22, the Elks will sponsor a concert by the famous Kitsilano Boys' Band of Vancouver. At that time votes will be counted, and announcement made of the winner of the popularity contest.

On May 22, 23 and 24 arrangements will be made for children's pony rides in the army camp and in the two cities.

On May 23 a junior talent show will be presented.

May 24, the usual children's sports will be staged by the Elks in Recreation Park, and it is expected that a parade will start about 12:30 p.m. to be followed by crowning of the May Queen during a pageant.

This year Maypole dancing will be featured. It is hoped to have eight poles, around which the children may dance the traditional May Day steps.

The popularity contest winner will be presented at the Maypoles, and a concert of junior talent, including a 25-voice choir, will be staged.

In the evening, dances will be held for children and adults.

The Elk band will be featured throughout the celebrations. The Kitsilano Boys' Band will appear here prior to attending a festival at Portland.

Snow in Forests

MESACHIE LAKE, April 28.—There is still four feet of snow in the woods around Mesachie Lake. The Hillcrest Lumber Company cleared its tracks and resumed operations in the forests after having been shut down since December 23.

Probe Meters

DUNCAN, April 28.—More than 200 persons attended a public meeting in the K. of P. Hall, called by the Duncan Chamber of Commerce to discuss parking meters. It was moved by E. Hall Adams and seconded by F. G. Aldersey that a committee consisting of three Duncan businessmen, two residents of North Cowichan Municipality, and two persons from the unorganized area study the meter problem and present recommendation to the City Council.

Mayor J. C. Wragg explained that businessmen had asked for action on traffic and parking problems more than a year ago, and also suggested installation of meters.

W. W. Seymour was chairman of the meeting, and Capt. Alan Hall acted as secretary.

Mainland Dean Speaks at Port

PORT ALBERNI, April 28.—"It is a liability and a threat to national [illegible] and we have no moral right to hold a country for 12,500,000 people." Very Rev. Dean Cecil Swanson of Christ Church Cathedral, Vancouver, disclosed in addressing the annual dinner meeting of the Women's Canadian Club here.

Dean Swanson emphasized the difficult times faced by Canada. "We are the freest people on the face of the earth, and we must strive to keep that way. To unify our Canadian citizenship, more population and the establishment of a uniform or standard form of citizenship is essential," he asserted.

"In Canada, there is still a vast amount of pioneering to be done. The population is far too small, with other countries of the world overcrowded and full of tension, due to lack of room for expansion," he added.

Emphasizing a standard citizenship, Dean Swanson cited a portion of Alberta, where almost within sight of each other were five types of Canadian citizens, Mormons, Hutterites, Doukhobors, Blood Indians and ordinary Canadians. He said all of them shared privileges, luxuries and opportunities of the country, and should also share equally in its responsibilities.

To Cost $310,000

PORT ALBERNI, April 28.—One of Port Alberni's major works projects, the new sewer system, will be under way about May 10, Mayor L. K. Jordan informed the City Council.

He said he had been advised by a Vancouver firm that a power shovel would be on its way here by May 7, and that a mobile crane for laying the pipes would be leaving about the same time. The city engineer had advised that there were no difficulties involved in the project, and it was fully anticipated it would be completed this year. The cost will be about $310,000.

Meters Efficient

I'LL WAIT FOR YOU

by MARGARET GORMAN NICHOLS

They did not speak again of Alan or Norman. For escape, they spoke of the good Chippendale pieces in the dining room which Edwina admired. Carol said they had been brought from the city house. Then Edwina asked about nursing as a career and Carol, her mind seizing an outlet, spoke of her years in the hospital, the work, the pleasure and the labor and the long hours of it while the clock ticked off the minutes slowly and Rosie, aware of the identity of the guest and eager not to miss a word of her conversation, shuffled back and forth between the dining room and the kitchen more frequently than was necessary.

Later Carol was to remember how long they were at dinner that evening and how slow their movements were—to make the time go faster so that the night would not be interminable. But in the living room again time seemed to stop and there was nothing to say or do except to sit and wait. Nor was there anything in the past or future on which they could fasten their minds. The central thought dominated them both, thrusting out all other thoughts, leaving only Mr. Hartley's life swaying in a balance——

At ten o'clock Edwina stirred in the chair, her eyes searching Carol's face when she said, "Norman is getting the train for New York now . . ."

And all at once Norman filled Carol's mind, she could see him, a tall, loose-jointed tweed-clad figure among lesser figures at the Newton station . . . The train rounding the bend, stopping, the porter stepping off as Norman stepped on . . . Would he glance back? What was he thinking? Oh, what was he thinking?

Edwina's dark eyes narrowed. "Carol, if you could, would you go with him? Or, if you could, would you call him back?"

She knew then by the relaxing of taut muscles in Carol's face and that brief look of radiance that came to her eyes . . . It was if she had thrown a lifeline or brought a light into a dark room . . .

Edwina said, "I know now and I didn't even suspect before. I wonder why I didn't. I can't imagine how it escaped me. You're as much in love with him as he is with you. I spoiled it when I told you I was going to marry him. An innocent little remark like that . . . But I explained that to you while I was explaining everything else."

CHAPTER XXIV

"I don't blame you for telling me you were going to marry Norman," Carol said when Edwina paused. "As you have just said, you were trying to make yourself believe that you were going to marry him. But I couldn't break with Alan. You can't make promises and break them, Edwina."

It was good to say at last simply and honestly, "I love Norman. Call him back or go with him? It wouldn't matter if I could be with him. But there are things other than love. Sometimes they hold you faster than love and you can't forsake them for love. And in the end love suffers most."

"You mean you'll marry Alan when this is over regardless of how it ends?" Edwina asked.

"Before it's over—if he wants it."

"Even if he goes to jail. You can't . . ."

"You learn of the things you can do when you must do them. You can't build happiness on somebody else's unhappiness . . . Norman loves me . . ."

"The gold at the end of the rainbow. . ."

"But no one has ever reached it, Edwina. It's gold you dream about, a lovely illusion. And life is waiting and doing the things you must do . . . I wish father would telephone. The phone has never been quiet for so long. Suppose there are days of this uncertainty! You think that life hangs on big issues—war and peace and economics and politics. It doesn't. For me it's an old man's will to live . . ."

Edwina said, "Anything is possible if you love a man enough. You'll eat your pride and work and wait. But you don't love Alan, Carol. Eating your pride and working and waiting will be much harder for you if you marry him before he is sent to jail. If you loved him, it would be different. But, not loving him, you're just a martyr, and martyrs went out of fashion a long time ago . . . like hollow loyalty." She lowered her eyes. "And yet you can do nothing else."

Eleven o'clock . . . Twelve o'clock . . . There were no sounds along the quiet street, and in the house only the sound of the ticking of the clock. After tonight clocks would always seem ominous to Carol. She thought of her father, his nerves steady but his skill helpless. She thought too of Alan, waiting, thinking, smoking incessantly, and of Norman on a train moving northward and the taut strings of all their lives tonight . . .

Presently Edwina said, "I think I'll go home, Carol. Sam and Mary are sleeping in the house now and they'll think I've had another accident. Try to sleep, and call me when you know anything. No matter what time it is, call me."

Getting up, she smiled. "Often when I've been very worried, I've visualised myself ten years later. It helps. And I always visualised myself in the loveliest places with the people I've cared for most—as if I were the heroine of a movie."

Carol was curled up in the fireside chair, half of her mind asleep, when Dr. Tallant came home. Springing awake, she sat up and saw that he looked tired and old. It was twenty-five minutes to four . . . a minute to remember.

"Well, tell me."

And while her heart stopped he drew up a footstool and took one of her hands.

"Poor child. It was agony, wasn't it?"

"I know you're terribly tired. I know you don't want to tell me, and that you'll try to postpone telling me. I've got to know and I hope I've prepared myself for the worst."

Saanich Trade Board Banquet Reflects 20 Years' Expansion

Businessmen, farmers, civic officials, and representatives of every trade on Southern Vancouver Island rubbed shoulders at last night's annual banquet of the Saanich Board of Trade.

The banquet was held in the Women's Institute Hall at Brentwood Bay, the same hall where the first meeting of the board was held in 1928

The Board of Trade in those days was comprised only of about 35 members The late Rev. N. W. J Bruce was the first president of the group, which has more than doubled in membership since those early days

Claude Butler is president of the board now, while Percy Thorp is vice-president, and Harold Patterson, secretary. About 150 persons attended the banquet.

George Benwell, of Nanaimo, vice-president of the Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island, attended the banquet

A well rounded-out program included toasts, community singing, guest speakers, solos and conjuring.

Walter Jones and Frank Spooner sang several vocal selections, and Alec McCormack, local magician, entertained. Victor Dawson was master of ceremonies.

Vice-President Percy Thorp toasted the Provincial Government, and Arthur J R Ash, M.L.A., replied Mr Thorp said he thought there was very often too much destructive criticism and not enough constructive criticism of the Government

Mr Ash praised the work of associations like the Saanich Board of Trade, adding that many ideas put forth by these organizations often led the way for new legislation.

Councillor William Kersey of Ward 6 toasted the City of Victoria Reeves of the surrounding municipalities replied

Proceeds from the banquet will be donated to the Queen Alexandra Solarium. Speakers who talked more than three minutes were fined $1.00 for each overtime minute Proceeds from this scheme also went to the Solarium

House Takes No Action On Sunday Sports Move

Contentious question of Sunday sports and concerts with a charge admission was tossed around by members of the Legislature in the closing hours of the session yesterday but they took no action.

A C.C.F. resolution calling for Sunday sports and other cultural activities to be permitted with the proceeds going to charitable or educational organizations was withdrawn when Attorney-General Gordon Wismer said he had plans to discuss the matter with Vancouver's police commission.

C.C.F. Leader Harold E. Winch contended cultural enjoyment of the majority should not be restricted by the small minority.

Mr. Wismer pointed out the Provincial Government had no power to deal with the matter. Under the Lord's Day Act, it was up to the Attorney-General to decide, a situation he did not think was right. If changes were to be made they should be made in the Act by the Federal Government and not left to the personal whims of a single minister

Mrs. Nancy Hodges, Victoria, was opposed to any lifting of restrictions. With the five-day week there was plenty of opportunity for recreation The past had shown how quickly things started in the name of charities had been taken over by purely commercial interests.

"Spectatoritis" was becoming a disease on the North American continent and everything should be done to aid children escape the disease and partake of healthful recreation.

Scottish Planning "At Home"

The first "at home" program of its kind since 1939, will be observed by The Canadian Scottish Regiment, May 10, primarily in celebration of the graduation parade of successful candidates in the regimental N.C.O.'s school.

The affair will be open to friends of the regiment and relatives of past and present members of the unit. In the past, such functions have been held after the annual general's inspection This time the regiment is paying its respects "to that sterling soldier . . . the man in the ranks."

Among those to attend the event will be Maj.-Gen. M H. S. Penhale, G.O.C., Western Command, and Major Jervis-Read, commandant of the local area.

The program will include inspection of candidate, a demonstration of drill, tactics and use of small arms, a graduation ceremony, pipe and brass bands, entertainment in all messes, and refreshments.

Approximately 400 guests are expected to attend the "at home" program.

VANCOUVER, April 28 (CP).—An increase of $10 in first term and $15 in second term sessional fees has been announced at University of British Columbia.

President N. A. M. Mackenzie said the move was necessitated by the rising costs of education.

Utilities Compensation Gets Parties Snarled

In need of a hearty laugh after a long and wearying round of serious business, the House got one yesterday morning when there was a surprising rearrangement of alliances among Liberal, Conservative and C.C.F. members.

It came about when the bill relating to determination of compensation to be paid to Nanaimo-Duncan Utilities Ltd., was in committee of the whole.

This is what happened

A. J. McDonell, Conservative Coalitionist for Vancouver Centre, attacked the Government—for the first time, he said—on what he described as a reprehensible piece of legislation.

Bitterest political enemies on the floor of the House, though good friends outside, Mr. McDonell and C.C.F. Whip Herbert Gargrave found they agreed with one another on something—for the first time.

Opposition Leader Harold Winch found himself on the opposite side of the fence to his right-hand man, Mr. Gargrave.

Mr. Winch supported the Government, got heckled by his party whip while he was speaking

H. J. Welch (Coalition, Comox), usually in agreement with Mr. McDonell on most subjects, disagreed with him on this one.

ONE PARTY NOT SPLIT

On a show of hands vote, Mr Winch and eight other C.C.F. members voted with the Government.

Mr. McDonell, Conservative Coalitionists, L. P. Stevenson and A. R MacDougall (Point Grey), and Liberal Coalitionist C. W. Morrow (North Okanagan) voted with Mr Gargrave against it.

Which meant that the only party in the House not split was the one-man Labor Party, Tom Uphill (Fernie).

The disputed measure is one designed to straighten out the legal tangle that litigation over properties expropriated by British Columbia Power Commission got into last year It says that notwithstanding decisions of a Supreme Court judge, as special commissioner, backed by a majority of the [illegible] appeal from valuations placed on the properties was a valid appeal, even though it was not filed within the prescribed 30 days.

Mr. McDonell said retroactive legislation of that kind was dangerous, unjustified since there had been no miscarriage of justice and the company involved had violated no principle of law, and that there were ways and means of negotiating a settlement without taking such drastic action.

"NOT FAIR"

"I submit it is not fair to ask private members to vote for legislation of this nature," he declared

"It is not fair to put me in this position, where for the first time I have to vote against the Government I support."

Education Minister W. T. Straith, K.C., pointed out that if it involved a private suit, between two private companies, it would be improper to take jurisdiction away. But in this case the Legislature was the guardian of public interest and must do what was in that interest.

OPPOSES "SAW-OFF"

"We will pay what is proper after the judge has determined what is proper," he concluded.

Mr Gargrave maintained the bill presented an unsound principle. His understanding was that the company had offered to split the difference involved, which would have saved much expensive litigation.

Mr. Winch declared himself utterly opposed to any kind of saw-off, agreed absolutely with Mr. Straith that there should be a fair settlement on the merits.

He added, "I'm going to support this and I'll talk to you afterwards, Bert!"

Mr. Gargrave: "You can talk to me, but I don't know what good it will do you!"

[illegible] bad law but it was good common sense

Little Stories for Bedtime . . .

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

A GREAT SURPRISE FOR REDDY FOX

Farmer Brown's boy was not the only one who had planned a morning call at the Smiling Pool. Oh, my not Peter Rabbit had fully intended to pay Mr and Mrs. Quack a visit. The only reason that he didn't was a very good one. He didn't dare to. He didn't dare to, for the very good reason that between the dear Old Brier Patch and the Smiling Pool he saw Old Man Coyote [illegible] when Old Man Coyote had disappeared he saw Redtail the Hawk swing 'round and 'round in great circles high in the air, and he knew that those wonderful eyes of Redtail's would see him the very minute he left the dear Old Brier Patch.

So Peter decided that the best place for him that morning was right at home in the dear Old Brier Patch. He knew it was when a little later he happened to look out over the Green Meadows and saw Reddy Fox trotting toward the Smiling Pool. Peter watched him with a little troubled frown. "I wonder," thought he, "if Reddy knows about Mr and Mrs. Quack?" Then he laughed [illegible] he had seen Farmer Brown's boy heading that way a little while before and hadn't seen him come back. "Perhaps Reddy will get a little surprise," thought Peter, and hoped with all his might that he would

Now Reddy knew perfectly well that he had no business to be trotting over to the Smiling Pool in broad daylight. He knew it was foolish. If Granny Fox had known she would have said that it was worse than foolish. But the truth is, Reddy hadn't been able to get the thought of those ducks out of his mind. You know, he had discovered Mr. and Mrs. Quack in the Smiling Pool the night before. The more he thought about them the more it seemed to him that he just must have one of them. He knew that the wise and smart thing to do was to wait until night and hide beside the Smiling Pool, as he did before. This is what he fully intended to do.

But thinking about those ducks [illegible] if they were still there that he finally made up his mind that he just had to find out. It was foolish. He was likely to be seen. He might spoil his chances of catching one of them that night by putting them on their guard. He knew all this, but he just couldn't rest until he had had one more peep at them.

"I'll just run over and hide in the bushes where the Laughing Brook flows into the Smiling Pool," said he to himself. "They'll never see me there. I'll be able to sleep better if I know that those ducks are still here." Reddy had been hunting all night, and at this very minute should have been curling up for a nap. Instead, here he was trotting across the Green Meadows.

Instead of going straight to the [illegible] Laughing Brook at the point where it leaves the Green Forest. You see, it was his plan to steal toward the Smiling Pool under cover of the bushes along the banks of the Laughing Brook.

Now, it never entered the head of Reddy Fox that others might have discovered the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Quack had come to the Smiling Pool. He thought it was all his own secret. So, as he stole softly along under the alder bushes on the bank of the Laughing Brook, he forgot for once to watch out for others. He thought of nothing but Mr and Mrs. Quack. He forgot to test the air with his wonderful nose to see if anyone else was about. Not that it would have done him any good this time, for the wind, what little there was was blowing toward the Smiling [illegible] all scent away from Reddy, instead of to him, but it shows how sometimes even such a shrewd fellow as Reddy Fox will be careless.

Presently he could get a glimpse of the Smiling Pool through the bushes and he knew that he soon would be where he could see all over it. With his eyes fixed eagerly on the Smiling Pool, he crept slowly and carefully nearer and nearer. He was almost to the place where the bushes stopped. Just in front of him was an old fallen log. From the other side of that he would be able to see clearly all over the Smiling Pool. He leaped lightly up on the old log, and then just the slightest sound drew his eyes down. There, stretched out at full length, just [illegible] boy. Reddy's heart seemed to jump right up in his mouth. Then he almost turned a back somersault in his hurry to get away.

[illegible] turned a back somersault in his hurry to get away.
